May Decide Today On I.W.A. Strike Involving 32,000

Operators, Labor Department
Officers Continue Discussion

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Today may decide whether there will be a British Columbia lumber strike or not.

Meeting this afternoon in Vancouver are I.W.A. officials, lumber operators' representatives and Labor Department officials in an eleventh hour attempt to find a basis for settlement of the long-drawn-out dispute involving some 32,000 woodworkers.

Much is at stake today and the crucial point under discussion will be the matter of union security, on which point the I.W.A. has been adamant.

The Rand formula will be the main vehicle for settlement of the dispute, according to conciliation officials.

The formula means all woodworkers must pay I.W.A. dues, but do not have to join the union unless they so desire.

President Stewart Alsbury has refused to comment on the Rand formula suggestion and merely said "Today's talks will tell."

"All is ready for strike action Thursday if there is no settlement," Alsbury said.

Meanwhile the outcome of today's talks are being anxiously awaited by varied interests in B.C. A strike could cause a paralyzing blow to the province's economy which is so dependent upon the lumber industry.

$8,000 Blaze Razes Stores, Cowichan Lake

An $8,000 blaze completely gutted a building housing two businesses and living quarters at Lake Cowichan. The building was owned by Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Pauls, Honeymoon Bay. Pauls estimates his loss $4,000. Building was insured.

Also lost in the fire was equipment of San-Brite Cleaners and Dyers Ltd. and Martha's beauty salon, owned by Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Williams, Lake Cowichan. Mr. and Mrs. Williams lived in the building. The total loss suffered by the two businesses is estimated at $3,500 to $4,000 by Mr. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams also lost most of their personal effects. Little was saved from the building, which became a raging inferno within a few minutes after Mrs. Williams smelled smoke at 5:30 p.m. Monday as she sat in the kitchen with her husband. Cause of the fire, which Mr. Williams believes started in a cleaning room, is unknown.

Mr. Williams saved several parcels of clothing from the cleaning establishment and one or two pieces of equipment from the beauty salon were saved. Most of the equipment, furniture and clothing in for cleaning was lost in the flames. "I had no chance to grab anything else," said Mr. Williams as he described how fast the flames spread through the frame structure.

Mr. Williams opened his cleaning business at Lake Cowichan in July, 1948. Mrs. Williams opened Martha's beauty salon early this year. Friends supplied Mr. and Mrs. Williams with clothes and a temporary place to stay.

Lake Cowichan volunteer fire department kept fire from spreading to nearby homes and the Lake Cowichan Community Hall across the street.

In addition to fire department hoses nearby residents kept garden hoses playing on their buildings.

Imperial Press Delegates Go To Ottawa

MONTREAL (CP)—Delegates to the Seventh Imperial Press Conference left today for Ottawa to resume their business sessions after a three-day round of social engagements.

The 80-odd delegates, 64 of whom represent 13 overseas Commonwealth countries paid a brief visit Monday evening to the Montreal Men's Press Club.

The Ottawa sessions will start tomorrow and last until Saturday. Two important topics will be freedom of the press and the tight newsprint situation in some Commonwealth countries.

Although no business sessions were held here, a representative of the British press told Canada's newspaper makers Monday that British publishers are grateful for the way the Canadian industry has stood by them and are anxious to deal with Canada again when Britain's currency difficulties are straightened out.

L. P. Scott, managing director of the Manchester Guardian and Evening News, said the Canadian industry — "the greatest newspaper industry in the world" — had fulfilled its responsibility by not abusing its power.

World's Biggest 'Copter Crashes

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (UP)—The world's largest helicopter crashed near here today, killing its crew of three.

A witness said one of the craft's three rotors broke off in the air.

The helicopter plunged toward the earth at a 25-degree angle, crashed on a farm and burst into flames, he said.

The helicopter, known as the Cerva Air Horse, was on a test flight over its home base at Southampton airport.

Killed instantly were Squadron

Leader Alan Marsh, manager of the Cerva Company and its chief test pilot; Squadron Leader F. J. Cable, chief rotary test pilot for the Supply Minister, and Joe Unsworth, Cerva flight engineer.

Five-Star Rank For Gen. Bradley

WASHINGTON (UP)—Defense Secretary Louis Johnson has endorsed legislation to give Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the five-star rank of general of the army.

If adopted by Congress, it would be the first five-star rank created since World War II, when four generals and four admirals were given that rank permanently.

Whale Wins Fight

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP)—Japanese fishermen pulled and pulled; their net brought up a whale. The angry mammal's lashing tail spilled one boat, dumping eight men and killing one. The whale got away.

'SAUCERS' AIR WHIRLPOOLS

LONDON (UP)—R.A.F. experts said today that the "flying saucers" sighted recently actually were whirlpools of air.

"Appearances of a 'flying saucer' may be noticed at quite low altitudes," the experts said, "and the explanation is the same: The condition in the air is rather like that of a whirlpool in a stream which reflects light and shines as a disc."

TV ENGINEERS AT CBS QUIT; SHOW GOES ON

Some Programs Out
But Radio Stations
Said Not Affected

NEW YORK (UP)—Columbia Broadcasting System executives manned television cameras today to substitute for technicians whose sudden strike canceled six television shows.

The executives were pressed into service at 7 p.m. Monday night when 335 engineers, members of the A.F.L. Electrical Workers' Union, walked out of the New York studios in a contract dispute over working conditions. CBS radio programs were not affected.

The strike forced cancellation of "The Goldbergs," "Studio One," and four shorter programs. Solo entertainers and movies were substituted including a film transcription of a Fannie Brice show not scheduled for release until next Monday. It was Miss Brice's television debut.

Howard Meighan, CBS regional vice-president, said he understood sympathy walkouts had been planned at seven network-owned stations but operation were reported normal at all but station KNX, Hollywood, where 32 technicians went on strike.

Meighan said the strike would effect mainly the "panoramic" shows requiring a sizeable number of cameramen and control operators. He said the network hoped that supervisory employees could handle even the panoramic shows eventually.

DRIVING TRAM RAILS WORKED

VANCOUVER (CP)—The explanation didn't help matters.

Two juveniles drove an automobile five miles along interurban tram tracks Monday night, were nabbed and gave this explanation: "We just wanted to see if it would work."

One of them faces a dangerous driving charge.

Fist Fight In Bundestag As Red Suspended

BONN, Germany (AP)—Max Reimann, West Germany's top Communist, today was suspended for 30 days from the West German Parliament after a Communist outburst which broke up a session of the Parliament's Lower House (Bundestag).

Fighting broke out on the floor when guards attempted to remove Reimann.

Communist and anti-Communist Members of Parliament kicked at each other and swung a few wild blows with their fists. No one was injured in the brief melee which began after the session had been adjourned.

All parties except the Communists had joined in a declaration condemning the loss of East German territories to Poland. It denounced the Communist-dominated East German government for signing a pact with Poland last week accepting the new East German border as permanent.

Unable to quiet the Communists, President Erich Koehler recessed the session. A few minutes later he reconvened the meeting to announce that Reimann would be barred from parliamentary sessions for 30 days and the battle ensued when Reimann still refused to leave.

Flexible Defence Line For W. Europe Planned

WASHINGTON (UP)—The anti-Communist world is planning to defend Western Europe with a flexible defence line manned by a relatively small force of highly trained troops armed with the most modern anti-tank weapons.

According to the defence plan now taking shape here, the line would be set up along some natural barrier like the Elbe River. Unlike the Maginot Line, it would be extremely fluid and extended in depth.

It was expected that before any enemy attacks, U.S. military scientists will have succeeded in

Four Bodies Recovered Fate Of Rest Unknown

PARIS (UP)—An Air France Skymaster carrying 50 persons plunged into the Persian Gulf early today while zooming in for a landing at Bahrain Island and official reports said at least four were killed.

A message to the Air France office here said six persons had been brought ashore safely by rescue craft and that four bodies had been recovered from the plane.

The other 40 persons on the plane, en route to Paris from Saigon in French Indo-China, still were missing several hours after the crash. Airline officials said they may have been picked up by rescue craft which have been searching the waters all morning.

Earlier reports said eight were saved, but Air France officials said that was the result of duplicated messages.

Air France in Paris said the plane carried 42 passengers and a crew of eight. Karachi reports said it was flying 43 passengers, including an infant, and a seven-member crew.

The plane plunged into the gulf three miles northeast of Bahrain a few minutes after the pilot radioed he was coming in for a scheduled landing, an Air France spokesman said.

VETERAN PILOT

The plane was piloted by Capt. Jean Sladek, a pioneer of commercial aviation with 19,500 flying hours to his credit.

Official reports to Air France headquarters said six persons had been rescued and five bodies had been recovered.

The four-engined transport flying from Indo-China to Paris carried 43 passengers and seven crewmen, officials reported. They said all aboard were French except one displaced person, and none was of international prominence.

Early reports gave no clue to the cause of the mishap. Just before the big ship went down the pilot radioed he was coming in for a scheduled landing.

U.S. Flier Now World Citizen

TOKYO, Japan (UP)—Lieut. Robert D. Farrington, 25-year-old U.S. Air Force officer, said today he had requested permission from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters to stay in Japan and work for the world citizenship movement.

Farrington said he would give up his U.S. citizenship if necessary to stay in this country.

He added he had carried on correspondence with Garry Davis, former U.S. Air Force bombardier who gave up his American citizenship in France to become a world citizen, but did not know Davis personally.

Farrington said he wished to be the representative in Japan of the movement Davis started. Davis, son of society band leader Meyer Davis, recently returned to the United States to marry.

Military Plane With 13 Missing

PARIS (Reuter)—A French military aircraft with 13 aboard today was reported missing on a flight from Tananarive, central Madagascar, to Tamatave, east Madagascar. Search was being made for it.

London Times Man In Japan Hurt Security

TOKYO (AP)—Maj. Gen. E. M. Almond, Chief of Staff to Gen. MacArthur, said today "security" and not journalism was involved in headquarters criticism of a Times of London correspondent, Frank Hawley.

Hawley informed other correspondents he was told MacArthur's headquarters considered him "persona non grata" (unacceptable).

Hawley has not been ordered out of Japan, nor has his filing privilege been denied.

In a statement Almond denied as "completely misleading and misrepresentative" statements which Hawley attributed to him when Hawley discussed the case with other correspondents.

STATEMENTS

Almond was quoted by the public information officer, Col. M. F. Echols, as saying: "The conference with Mr. Hawley was not based on criticism by him of the Occupation but was directed entirely at the inaccuracy of statements contained in his dispatch of a nature tending to aid, support and encourage subversive elements among the Japanese. The question involved was one of security, not journalism."

Hawley, in describing his conference with Almond, said the latter had specifically mentioned as inaccuracies one part of a story which said the Japanese government was violating the constitution in banning demonstrations.

$1,222,829 In Compensation For B.C. Japs

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Carson announced today the government will pay $1,222,829 to some 1,300 Canadians of Japanese origin as the result of a commission study of claims that their British Columbia properties, seized in wartime, were sold too cheaply.

He tabled in the Commons the report of Mr. Justice H. J. Bird of the B.C. Court of Appeal and praised the judge for his "monumental" work during a period of two years and four months.

Mr. Carson said the money to cover the claims will be sought from Parliament in the form of a supplementary estimate.

Mr. Carson said the commission, appointed in July, 1947, dealt in all with 1,434 claims involving not only homes and farms but businesses, cars, trucks and other possessions.

Ontario Windstorm Leaves Trail Of Losses

Scenes like those in the tornado of June, 1946, were numerous in Windsor following the torrential rainstorm late last week. Heaviest damage was along Windsor's Riverside Drive. Picture shows hydro linemen working to clear away debris from four willow trees that blocked street traffic for nearly two hours. Repair work was hampered, having brought more than an inch of water in less than hour.

SAYS TRAFFIC LAWS OUTSIDE MAGNA CARTA

EDMONTON (BUP)—Edmonton City Council decided Monday night to steer clear of debate over Magna Carta.

Businessman J. M. Caine had written a protest that parking tickets were a violation of Magna Carta, and the council simply shelved the matter.

Caine said he could seldom find a parking place near his business establishment and was always getting tickets.

Once, he said, he parked his car in a lane and climbed a rear fire escape to get to his office for some papers. When he returned, by the same route, he had a red parking ticket on his windshield.

Then when he appeared in court, he parked in a one-hour zone.

To Continue Subsidy On Pork Exports

Arrangement For British Contract

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced today in the Commons the government will continue after July 1 to pay a subsidy on pork products going to the United Kingdom. The subsidy was due to end June 30.

Mr. Gardiner said the matter was considered by the cabinet "a half-hour ago" and it was decided to continue the subsidy until the government has purchased the 60,000,000 pounds needed to fill the bacon contract with the United Kingdom.

This meant, he said, that the subsidy "will go right along." Other regulations covering pork products will be continued as well.

Under the terms of the United Kingdom contract, the Canadian government buys bacon at 32½ cents a pound and sells it to Britain at 29 cents a pound.

Hog producers asked the government in recent weeks to continue payment of the subsidy. This, along with the fact that the government has been able to buy only 15,000,000 pounds of bacon for Britain under the support program, is believed to have been considered by the government in making its decision.

R.C.M.P. Chief Visits Wismer

An early change in policing of the province from B.C. police to R.C.M.P. was seen today in the visit here of Commissioner S. T. Wood of the national law enforcement agency.

Commissioner Wood was meeting this afternoon with Attorney-General Gordon Wismer.

He visited headquarters of the B.C. police this morning and consulted with some of the top-ranking officers.

Attorney-General Wismer would not comment on the visit other than to say matters of a general nature would be discussed with Commissioner Wood.

However, it is believed arrangements for the transfer were being made... possibly for around the end of next month.

Moose Calf Found In Seattle Placed In Zoo

SEATTLE (AP)—A flop-eared moose calf, estimated to be about two weeks old, was found on a Seattle Times ramp Monday shortly after an unidentified man had been seen near the spot.

Its legs were trussed and its body encased in burlap. Attached was a note which read:

"George is an orphan through no fault of mine. The people of Seattle need him to grow up in Woodland Park."

Moose generally are found in Alaska and British Columbia. Officials at Woodland Park, to whom the pop-eyed, spindly-legged little "critter" was given, said they would do what they could for it, but "moose usually can't be kept in captivity successfully. George has critical days ahead."

Fraser Dike Patrols To Go Into Effect Tonight

MISSION (CP)—The Fraser River surged upward in the last 24 hours and other British Columbia rivers followed suit in the wake of the hot spell over the interior of the province.

Dike patrols will go up tonight on Nicomen Island near this lower valley town and others, will follow as the river reaches the danger level of 20 feet here.

The level rose 1.24 feet to 18.12 feet since Monday at New Westminster. Dike patrols will be "normal precautions" taken on experience of past years.

Monday's temperatures of more than 90 degrees at many points in the interior were expected to continue today excepting the lower half of the province where cloud blankets have lowered them about five degrees.

The run-off on the average is 15 per cent behind schedule as alternate hot and cold spells have failed to unloose all the winter snowfall from basin peaks.

At Princeton, the Similkameen River still is two feet below its banks despite a two-foot climb in the last 36 hours. The smaller Tulameen River in Lower Princeton already is brimming the banks and any further rise will start water lapping at lower streets.

The Columbia River, whose mighty wash passes through Washington and Oregon, still has not reached the danger point at Trail, despite a steady rise.

The warden said the federal government now is negotiating for quarters buildings to be erected on prison grounds, placed in a large ravine which runs through the grounds and out of sight of the public.

Twenty-three Doukhobors who served 30 days in Oakalla entered the penitentiary Saturday. They are housed with about 50 others in a separate wing.

Objection to proposed housing of offenders here was raised Monday night by the city council on grounds it would hinder plans to move the prison from the city and that friends and relatives of the offenders would be attracted to the city.

M.P.'S WANT INFORMATION Questions Asked On How British Disposed Of B.C.'s Gift Of Apples

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in the Commons today that "questions should be asked" about the disposal in Britain of a recent gift of 1,600,000 boxes of apples from British Columbia.

Mr. Gardiner said he had read that 50,000 boxes of the apples, a gift from British Columbia Tree Fruits Ltd., had been distributed to British schools but it was not made clear how the remainder had been disposed of.

"If there were any sold there it is one question I want to ask: Who ought to get the return? He did not think Canada, a country of 13,000,000 persons, should attempt to feed 45,000,000 in a country that proudly boasts how it has rehabilitated the people."

O. L. Jones (C.C.F.-Yale) said he understood apple authorities in British Columbia were making inquiries about disposal of the apples in Britain.

George Cruickshank (L.-Fraser Valley) said Britain had gladly taken Canada's agricultural products during the war, but when the war was over "they were satisfied to buy on a so-called cheaper market."

Canada had "stood behind them as we should have stood."

and we believed Britain should give more consideration to buying in Canada. The British owed a lot to Canadian agricultural producers.

Mr. Jones said that despite a $2,000,000 federal subsidy, the British Columbia apple growers were having a slim time. He feared that before the present marketing season was over some new agreement would have to be worked out under the Prices Support Act.

He suggested an apple-selling delegation be sent to Britain.

Mr. Gardiner said Britain had not taken many Canadian apples since 1939.

Halibut Catch Up In Northern B.C.

PRINCE RUPERT (BUP)—Fishermen in northern British Columbia waters have caught 1,000,000 pounds more halibut this season than in 1949.

Landings of halibut at Prince Rupert up to Monday were almost 11,500,000 pounds, which is about 1,000,000 pounds more than were caught last season.

Of the total, 9,500,000 were caught by Canadian fishermen while American boats hauled in another 2,000,000.

Sleeping Man Arrested, Charged

LONDON (Reuter)—Albert Price, 33-year-old housepainter found sleeping in London's Green Park this morning after a country-wide search, today was charged with the murder of his wife, Doris.

He will appear in court at Kingston, Surrey, tomorrow.

Two policemen, participating in an overnight comb-out of London's open spaces, discovered him asleep within a stone's throw of Buckingham Palace.

Victorian Robbed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Oscar Demmen of Victoria early today was attacked and robbed by two men in his hotel room, he told police. He was treated in hospital for two head wounds requiring eight stitches. A wallet, with money missing, was recovered later.

Local Loggers Say Rand Formula May Halt Strike

Miss K. Agnew Gives Home To House Aged

Miss Kathleen Agnew, well-known Victorian, has given her spacious 1322 Rockland Avenue residence, "Shuman", to the Anglican Church for use as a home for aged people. It was learned today.

The large residence, situated on three and one-half acres of land, has 16 rooms. It has been the home of Miss Agnew since 1913. The property was bought by her parents from the Shuman family 37 years ago.

An Anglican Church board will meet Friday to discuss plans for turning the house into a home for aged people.

Church officials would not comment on the gift but confirmed the report that the residence had been offered by Miss Agnew.

Plans for conversion of the house have been left in the hands of the Women's Auxiliary. The group has been doing much in the last two years in providing accommodations for the aged.

List 3,583 Homes For Reoccupation

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flood-damage inspectors have made 7,000 inspections in the Greater Winnipeg area, approving 3,583 homes for occupation, it was disclosed today.

N. S. Bubbis, director of re-establishment, said appraisal work has been speeded up. In most areas it is being carried out on a street-by-street basis.

'Few Minor Changes' In Scale Of Pay Increases Also Required

Some local members of the I.W.A. believe the strike in the B.C. logging industry scheduled for Thursday could be averted through introduction of the Rand Formula on union dues payments, and "a few minor changes" in the offered wage schedule.

The Rand Formula was suggested Monday by Andrew Whisker, M.L.A. for Cowichan-Newcastle, and may be discussed at continued negotiations in Vancouver today between the union and logging operators.

The formula provides for payment of union dues by all employees whether they are members of the union or not. In this way there is recognition from all for any benefits the union might have obtained for the workers.

The "few minor changes" in wages included raising of the 5½ cents an hour offer for bunkhouse and cookhouse workers to the same level of other classifications.

A 9-cents-an-hour boost for loggers generally was approved and there were indications this would be acceptable provided the bunkhouse and cookhouse workers received it also, and the Rand Formula was offered.

Meeting this afternoon in Vancouver are I.W.A. officials, lumber operators' representatives and Labor Department officials in an 11th hour attempt to find a basis for settlement of the long-drawn-out dispute involving some 32,000 woodworkers.

"Much is at stake today and the crucial point under discussion will be the matter of union security, on which point the I.W.A. has been adamant."

President Stewart Alsbury has refused to comment on the Rand Formula suggestion and merely said "Today's talks will tell."

"All is ready for strike action Thursday—if there is no settlement," Alsbury said.

Meanwhile the outcome of today's talks are being anxiously awaited by varied interests in B.C. A strike could cause a paralyzing blow to the province's economy which is so dependent upon the lumber industry.

UP TO CIVILIANS A-Bomb Defence Not Matter For Military

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Plans for U.S. cities to cope with A-bomb attacks are far beyond the tin hats and sand buckets of the Second World War, Paul Larsen, civilian mobilization director, said today.

But, he added, "an added civil defence program cannot and should not appear on the scene overnight."

His speech, prepared for delivery to a two-day civilian defence meeting of west coast mayors, was an apparent reply to criticism by Mayor Elmer Robinson of San Francisco and others that the federal government is "passing the buck" on A-bomb defence.

Larsen told the mayors they had already been informed that the "basic national civil defence plan" would be available to them through their state governors by Sept. 1.

"Citizens must take the responsibility for civil defence squarely on their own shoulders," he asserted. "The military's primary mission is to win a war by carrying the attack to the enemy."

Mass evacuation is not the answer to atomic attacks on cities, Larsen said. "That kind of dispersion program would be fantastic."

Officials at Woodland Park, to whom the pop-eyed, spindly-legged little "critter" was given, said they would do what they could for it, but "moose usually can't be kept in captivity successfully. George has critical days ahead."

Victor Over Graf Spee, Admiral Harwood Dead

LONDON (UP)—Death of Admiral Sir Henry Harwood, hero of the battle of the River Plate in which three British cruisers defeated the German pocket battleship Graf Spee, was announced today by his family.

Harwood, 62, died at his Oxfordshire home last Friday. The death announcement was delayed so that family members out of the country could be notified.

Harwood was commander of a three-cruiser flotilla which intercepted the Graf Spee in December, 1939, off the eastern coast of South America. The Spee, on a commerce raiding foray in the south Atlantic, was so severely damaged in a running fight that she was forced to take refuge in Montevideo Roads. She was subsequently scuttled.

Admiral Harwood visited the Esquimalt naval base shortly before the war and was the guest of honor at a number of functions, including one given by the City of Victoria.

Collision Victim Reported Improved

Aged Pedestrian Gets Severe Head Injuries

Badly injured in a collision with a car Monday evening, Mrs. Christina Love, 71, of 2531 Government Street, is improved today, according to Royal Jubilee Hospital officials.

She suffered severe head injuries, bruises and shock. City police reported Mrs. Love was crossing Douglas Street from west to east in the south-easterly pedestrian lane at Queens Avenue when she was in collision with a car driven by Fiddle Pollano, 3815 Wilkinson Road.

She was taken to hospital in the police ambulance by Constables William Andrews and Walter Caldwell. The Pollano car is being held by police.

This is the same spot where Mrs. Mary McLean, 735 Queens Avenue, was dangerously injured on last Nov. 18.

The young mechanic, son of the late well-known sports fisherman, "Mickey" White, suffered a fractured vertebrae, hip and foot injuries.

City police said White had been working on a car on a raised hoist at Heaney's Motors Ltd., 2821 Douglas Street, when the air line to the hoist broke. The hoist came down suddenly and pinned White to the floor.

Garage manager William C. Armour, 500 Gorge Road West, and G. L. Wilson, 1511 Bank Street, raised the hoist and dragged the young mechanic free. He was taken to hospital by Constables James Smith and George Buckle.

The garage manager said the safety device was not on the hoist when the accident occurred.

Strike Stalls Big Newspaper In New York

NEW YORK (UP)—Editorial and commercial employees of the New York World-Telegram and Sun went on strike today, and the newspaper announced: "At the present moment we cannot print."

The New York Newspaper Guild (N.Y.N.G.) said the members of all unions of the Allied Printing Trades refused to cross the guild's picket lines, which were set up at 5:30 a.m. The guild called the strike to back its demand for higher wages, union security and other benefits.

Lee B. Wood executive editor, and Noel MacNeish, business manager, said in a joint statement three hours after the walk-out: "The printers and stereotypers did not cross the picket line. The obvious fact is, at the present moment, we cannot print."

Guild strike headquarters termed the walkout "completely effective." The guild said 750 persons were manning the picket lines on three sides of the main World-Telegram and Sun building in lower Manhattan. Pickets also patrolled three other plants where some of the newspaper's printing is done.

The strike involved some 500 employees in the editorial and commercial departments covered by the guild contract.

Elections took place at the annual banquet, which was held in the school gymnasium. Nearly 40 were in attendance.

Move is part of a province-wide plan to eradicate brucella, which causes sterility and premature births in cattle, and which is known as undulant fever among humans.

Heat Wave At Kamloops

KAMLOOPS (UP)—Temperatures sizzled in the 90's in British Columbia's interior again today after setting Canada's hottest day of the year Monday. Residents of the Kamloops district sweltered under 94 degree temperature.

TEN YEARS after leaving Victoria High School, Douglas H. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Campbell, 3552 Calumet Avenue, has received Bachelor of Applied Science from University of Toronto. ## Thames Changes Shape For Britain Festival

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON (CP)—Old Father Thames is being corseted. By the time the job is done he'll be 145 feet thinner at Waterloo Bridge.

For one-third of a mile, between Westminster and Waterloo Bridges, the ancient stream is losing an average of 110 feet in width as engineers reclaim land from the river bed. At Waterloo Bridge the shrinkage is from 1,125 to 980 feet.

The activity is on the south bank, fast being made ready for the Festival of Britain, 1951. Conversion of derelict blitz sites near County Hall into next year's gigantic festival, besides proving a multi-million-dollar tourist attraction, is expected to give Britons themselves a relief from drab austerity.

NEW PERMANENT

While the festival will embrace a good many buildings—such as a hall of science and a hall of industry—only a few will remain after the fair.

They are the new concert hall, the new national theatre and a government block. In the construction of these Londoners are taking special interest. Since the Queen's Hall went down under the blitz they have been pressing for an auditorium worthy of the finest orchestras. Agitation for a national theatre has gone on for a quarter-century.

The new river wall comes within six feet of the concrete casings surrounding two underground railways which cut beneath the river.

As a safety precaution pile-driving operations are confined to the three hours between 1:30 and 4:30 a.m. when no trains operate. As the reclaimed mud dries dry, rubble—130,000 tons of it—

WAR VETERAN COLLAPSES WHEN HOME CATCHES FIRE

War veteran Oliver Hollingsworth, Granville Road, was rushed to Veterans' Hospital Monday night after collapsing from a weak heart and shock when fire broke out in his home.

He was taken to hospital by Constable David Shepherd. The fire broke out in the roof. Saanich firemen praised residents of the Colquitz district for their alert action in checking the blaze before their arrival.

Firemen were on the job for two hours. Damage was not believed to be extensive. Cause is being investigated by Fire Chief Joseph Law.

Mr. Hollingsworth, who works in the summer months for the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, has had a poor heart condition for some time. Hospital attendants reported he did not spend a very good night.

Co-Operation Necessary To Develop B.C., Says Minister

Labor and management must work together to develop the province, Labor Minister John Cates told the Gyro Club Monday.

The minister said he felt both laborers and employers deserved more than just a living from their work.

"Both should be able to put a certain amount away for a rainy day. We are all workers together and must work to develop the province," said Capt. Cates.

Honesty and fairness were the two most important things in dealing with labor disputes, the minister believed. He said honesty was of prime importance in dealing with government, management and labor.

"There is a tendency for people to make smart contracts today. The smart thing is to honor a contract and make a good job of it," he said.

Capt. Cates outlined the different branches of his department.

REDS SUPPLY BLACKS

Russia Selling Gold, Diamonds In Europe

WASHINGTON (UP)—Russia is quietly peddling gold in western countries. There also are reports that it is selling diamonds.

Scattered reports from the world's gold centres indicate the Russians have sold about $200,000 worth of the yellow metal since the war ended. Much of it was sold in black markets, where the best prices prevail.

It's hard to keep track of the trading, but the sales now appear to have reached significant volume.

In addition, Russia is reported to be shipping gold to its agents abroad in such places as Sweden, Macao, Hongkong and France. This gold could be sold quickly on orders from the Kremlin.

According to the best information here, actual sales have been heaviest in the international zone of Tangiers, where there are no currency restrictions. Other heavy sales, it was said, have been made in the black markets of France and Italy.

Invariably, the gold is handled by an innocent-looking agent who, if questioned, would disclaim any official connection with Moscow.

It is impossible to tell whether the bars are made from looted, melted-down gold or from freshly-mined metal.

$8,000 Blaze Razes Stores, Cowichan Lake

An $8,000 blaze completely gutted a building housing two businesses and living quarters at Lake Cowichan. The building was owned by Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Pauls, Honeycomb Bay. Mr. Pauls estimates his loss $4,000. Building was insured.

Also lost in the fire was equipment of Sani-Brite Cleaners and Dyers Ltd. and Martha's beauty salon, owned by Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Williams, Lake Cowichan. Mr. and Mrs. Williams lived in the building. The total loss suffered by the two businesses is estimated at $3,500 to $4,000 by Mr. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams also lost most of their personal effects. Little was saved from the building, which became a raging inferno within a few minutes after Mrs. Williams smelled smoke at 5:30 p.m. Monday as she sat in the kitchen with her husband. Cause of the fire, which Mr. Williams believes started in a cleaning room, is unknown.

Mr. Williams saved several parcels of clothing from the cleaning establishment and one or two pieces of equipment from the beauty salon were saved.

Most of the equipment, furniture and clothing in for cleaning was lost in the flames. "I had no chance to grab anything else," said Mr. Williams as he described how fast the flames spread through the frame structure.

Mr. Williams opened his cleaning business at Lake Cowichan in July, 1948. Mrs. Williams opened Martha's beauty salon early this year. Friends supplied Mr. and Mrs. Williams with clothes and a temporary place to stay.

Lake Cowichan volunteer fire department kept fire from spreading to nearby homes and the Lake Cowichan Community Hall across the street.

In addition to fire department hoses nearby residents kept garden hoses playing on their buildings.

Fist Fight In Bundestag As Red Suspended

BONN, Germany (AP)—Max Reimann, West Germany's top Communist, today was suspended for 30 days from the West German Parliament after a Communist outburst which broke up a session of the Parliament's Lower House (Bundestag).

Fighting broke out on the floor when guards attempted to remove Reimann.

Communist and anti-Communist Members of Parliament kicked at each other and swung a few wild blows with their fists. No one was injured in the brief melee which began after the session had been adjourned.

All parties except the Communists had joined in a declaration condemning the loss of East German territories to Poland. It denounced the Communist-dominated East German government for signing a pact with Poland last week accepting the new East German border as permanent.

TV Engineers Strike At CBS; Show Goes On

NEW YORK (UP)—Columbia Broadcasting System executives manned television cameras today to substitute for technicians whose sudden strike canceled six television shows.

The executives were pressed into service at 7 p.m. Monday night when 335 engineers, members of the A.F.L. Electrical Workers' Union, walked out of the New York studios in a contract dispute over working conditions. CBS radio programs were not affected.

The strike forced cancellation of "The Goldbergs," "Studio One," and four shorter programs. Solo entertainers and movies were substituted including a film transcription of a Fannie Brice show not scheduled for release until next Monday. It was Miss Brice's television debut.

Howard Meighan, CBS regional vice-president, said he understood sympathy walkouts had been planned at seven network-owned stations but operation were reported normal at all but station KNX, Hollywood, where 32 technicians went on strike.

Meighan said the strike would effect mainly the "panoramic" shows requiring a sizeable number of cameramen and control operators. He said the network hoped that supervisory employees could handle even the panoramic shows eventually.

Five-Star Rank For Gen. Bradley

WASHINGTON (UP)—Defense Secretary Louis Johnson has endorsed legislation to give Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the five-star rank of general of the army.

If adopted by Congress, it would be the first five-star rank created since World War II, when four generals and four admirals were given that rank permanently.

Flexible Defence Line For W. Europe Planned

WASHINGTON (UP)—The anti-Communist world is planning to defend Western Europe with a flexible defence line manned by a relatively small force of highly trained troops, armed with the most modern anti-tank weapons. According to the defence plan now taking shape here, the line would be set up along some natural barrier like the Elbe River. Unlike the Maginot Line, it would be extremely fluid and extended in depth.

It was expected that before any enemy attacks, U.S. military scientists will have succeeded in developing anti-tank weapons with atomic warheads. Defence officials have conceded they are working on such arms right now. The troops would be equipped with recoilless artillery using the bazooka principle. Their projectiles, it was said, would have two types of charges:

1. A "shaped charge" with a high power of penetration, and
2. A "squash-headed" charge which would not penetrate the target armor, but would smear the explosive over it. The shock of the explosion would tear off huge chunks inside the tank.

World's Biggest Helicopter Falls, Killing 3 Crew

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (UP)—The world's largest helicopter crashed near here today, killing its crew of three.

A witness said one of the craft's three rotors broke off in the air. The helicopter plunged toward the earth at a 25-degree angle, crashed on a farm and burst into flames, he said.

The helicopter, known as the Clerva Air Horse, was on a test flight over its home base at Southampton airport.

Killed instantly were Squadron Leader Alan Marsh, manager of the Clerva Company and its chief test pilot; Squadron Leader F. J. Cable, chief rotary test pilot for the Supply Minister, and Joe Unsworth, Clerva flight engineer.

PARIS (Reuter)—A French military aircraft with 13 aboard today was reported missing on a flight from Tananarive, central Madagascar, to Tamatave, east Madagascar. Search was being made for it.

WOULD YOU BE HAPPY ON A LEASH?

It's just as natural to want to get ahead and to succeed in any undertaking as it is to eat. Human beings are made that way.

When an individual starts to work as a clerk—as a pick-and-shovel man—as an interne or as a teacher, he doesn't see himself doing the same job for the rest of his life. He sees himself as office manager or sales manager, as a foreman or superintendent on a big job, as a famous specialist or as a school principal or professor.

Under our system that's where the office managers, the sales managers, the foremen, the superintendents, the famous specialists and educators come from. They come from the ranks—from the fellows who started out as clerks, working men and inexperienced students.

Ours is still the only system that permits the individual the opportunity to choose his job; to live where he pleases; to make the best use of his abilities to get along in the world and to hold his head up as an independent and free person.

It is still the only system that lends itself to steady improvement by democratic processes.

BRITISH COLUMBIA FEDERATION OF TRADE AND INDUSTRY

Still Not Conclusive

HON. R. C. MACDONALD, MINISTER of Municipal Affairs, and his Cabinet colleagues are faced with a new problem as a result of the Saanich vote on secession of former Wards Five and Six. The inner portions of the municipality voted lightly, but with a majority in favor of severing connection with both the rural districts. Ward Six voters, turning out in force, indicated a similar sentiment, but Ward Five reversed the secession petition of several years ago and plumped heavily for continued existence as a part of Saanich. The net effect of the voting, therefore, so far as Ward Five is concerned, is that the residents of that area are being asked to leave the municipality, and against their wishes. It is not a matter of secession but of involuntary exile.

Such an outcome, of course, adds little to the solution of an already tangled problem. It would appear that many of those in the inner wards who voted for the severance of ties did so in the spirit of "a plague on both your houses." The matter has been argued for many years—a constant reminder of the conflict between the needs of rural and urban sections, with all that that implies in way of highways, water systems, street lighting, drainage and comparative abilities to pay for such projects. With less than 20 per cent of the eligible voters of Saanich turning out, the result in general lacks the emphasis that a more widespread expression of opinion would provide. At the same time, the percentage of those casting ballots in the areas most affected—nearly 60 per cent in Ward Six and about 50 per cent in Ward Five—was enough to give a good guide to the feelings of the residents concerned.

Provincial authorities previously had shown little enthusiasm for the secession of only one of the areas. It had appeared as a choice between all or nothing, with the United States was producing "hundreds of atomic bombs a year" as an armaments reserve, the Chicago scientist published his belief that the Soviet Union was far ahead of the West in work on the more powerful hydrogen explosive. Nothing in the post-war history of East-West relations has indicated that anything but superior force will halt the Communist attempt to control the world. The weak are invaded, intimidated and dominated. The Allies must remain strong.

There is, however, another equally potent weapon ready to the hand of the democracies. That is the innate urge of most of mankind to enjoy freedom. It has sparked progress and emancipation throughout history. Though in some cases stifled for generations, it has risen eventually to triumph. That today is the strongest hope of the West—that the oppressed people under Communist totalitarianism will tire of their masters and demand a better share of the earth's good things, intangible as well as tangible. Enough information filters out from behind the Iron Curtain to suggest that peace and contentment do not reign throughout Stalin's territories. The country that uses strict censorship, jamming of foreign radio stations and other methods to prevent its people from hearing the truth from abroad tacitly admits its moral bankruptcy. Such a state of affairs cannot last forever. There need not be another war. But there must ultimately be a readjustment of human values where there are no "ifs" or "buts" of line with nature's history-proven course.

It is not to be supposed, of course, that Prof. Brown has said the last word on the subject. It will be no surprise to find other atomic experts decrying the whole idea a few days from now, and pointing out how such an occurrence would not be possible. But there can be little doubt—without indulging to an undue extent in "horror" stories—that any atomic war of the future could present dangers of the magnitude envisioned by the Chicago scientist. When one bombing strike could end one's opposition forever, the threat of retaliation would cease to have much restraining effect. Poison gas was not used in the Second World War presumably because retaliation and adverse world opinion was feared. That would not count where the single blow, delivered early enough,

Jim Crow A Dead Pigeon?

ON THE BASIS OF UNITED STATES Supreme Court decisions and rulings of the American Medical Association, it may not be long before "Jim Crow" becomes a "dead pigeon" south of the 49th Parallel.

Last week, Chief Justice Vinson delivered two unanimous decisions, one striking down segregation of negro students at the University of Oklahoma, the other ordering Texas to admit a negro student to its all-white law school. The judgments followed closely another which outlawed the separation of negroes in railroad dining cars—a problem that has long vexed travelers in the United States.

In the same news budget came word from New York that the American Medical Association has eliminated all designations of race, creed and color from "situation-wanted" advertisements in its journal.

These are important steps in overcoming prejudice. It does not necessarily follow that they will be accompanied by a quick conversion of the prejudiced to the idea which the laws and rules have laid down. On the other hand, now that decisions have been reached, it will no longer be possible for those who seek to practice specific discrimination on the question of color to escape the legal implications of the judgments which have been handed down.

Prejudice will probably die hard, but on the point of color it appears to be losing ground in its attempt to swim upstream against the current of public opinion—a public opinion that finds strength in the courts.

Inequality In Communist State Proves To Be Permanent Factor

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW, From London

THE SOVIET people are now being told more emphatically and unequivocally than ever before that they must relinquish any dreams they ever had about equality—not merely in the present condition of Socialism but also in the future condition of Communism.

Ever since Stalin's famous condemnation of the levelling off of wages as a petty-bourgeois conception, the perpetuation of sharp inequalities has been orthodox Soviet policy.

STUBBORN HOPE

But among the common people there has always been a stubborn hope that the present extreme inequalities would at least partly smooth out when the day came for Communism to supersede Socialism and the slogan "to each according to his ability" should give way to the slogan, "to each according to his needs."

And, in fact, for a long time past, while the propagandists have talked a great deal about the approaching transition from Socialism to Communism, they have been careful to avoid anything like a definition of "needs."

During the past fortnight this caution has been cast aside. Opening the new campaign, the economist, Mr. V. G. Lopatkin, in an elaborate broadcast lecture, "in reply to a listener's question," brought Stalin's ideas on the shape of the coming Communist state fully into the open in terms which everyone could understand.

"According to Stalin," he said, "in a Communist society each citizen would work according to his capabilities and the product of his labor would be in proportion to the work he had done, but in proportion to his requirements as a culturally developed person." He did not define cultural development; but the ordinary Russian worker would take it that government officials and writers were culturally developed and manual workers not so culturally developed.

They would also no doubt ask how an unculturally developed person receiving little because his needs were low would about developing himself so that his needs became higher.

Further, Mr. Lopatkin went on to remove all possible doubts about the extent of future inequalities by saying that far from decreasing under Communism they would be bound to increase.

NO LEVELLING OFF

"It is obvious," he said, "that under Communism as under Socialism there cannot and will not be a levelling-off of wages." The classic Marxist-Leninist writers have always opposed the petty-bourgeois interpretation of equality in a Socialist society. As Stalin has said, the cry for equality has its origin in the peasant way of thought, in the psychology of primitive peasant Communism, the feeling that all good things should be equally divided.

In a word, whatever "to each according to his needs" may mean, it does not mean fair shares.

Where We Stand

By JOSEPH ALSOP, From Washington

THIS REPORTER can think of no better way to begin a summary of a long investigation in Europe, than to put in print what Trygve Lie left out. The Secretary General of the United Nations made the long journey to Moscow, after all, to find a way to end the cold war. Yet the unhappy Lie's confidential report to the governments in London and Paris, unlike his report to the public, was in fact a report of worse than failure.

TO DISPOSE first of what is least essential, but was much emphasized by Lie, he was given at Moscow a super-special performance of the Stalin's ancient charade as an amiable, peace-loving old party. The general idea conveyed was that only benevolent Uncle Joe was holding in check the fire-eaters of the Politburo. It was more than hinted, in fact, that the other Soviet leaders would behave in a much more violent manner if Stalin were not there to stop them.

THIS IS A FAMILIAR comedy, which the British leaders, like the American leaders, have often seen played before. It meant nothing during the war and means nothing now. It is more significant indeed that Lie found Stalin in excellent health. If this is so, we cannot even hope for Soviet policy to be disrupted or diverted during the next years by an internal struggle for succession.

Second, the men of the Kremlin naturally assured Lie that once the Chinese Communists had replaced the Nationalists on the U.N. Security Council, the Soviet Union and her satellites would again participate fully in U.N. affairs. This formed the basis of the only concrete recommendation in Lie's recent public report, which was otherwise a mere plan for a gigantic game of "Let's pretend."

EVEN LIE IS NOT so foolish, however, as to have much faith in stopping the cold war by wishing it away. He did not spend all his time in Moscow listening to Stalin's protestations of benevolence and talking about "making the United Nations work." In fact, he asked Stalin and the other members of the Politburo he was permitted to meet, whether there was any practical, serious world settlement which they would agree to.

The reply, it can now be stated authoritatively, was to confront Lie with most of the same old demands long ago made familiar by Molotov and Vishinsky at many international conferences.

SIGNIFICANTLY, particular emphasis was placed on the Soviet demands for a German settlement, that were last put forward at the Paris conference to end the Berlin blockade. The details of the demands made at Paris—the establishment of a "democratic" (i.e. Communist-controlled) government and so on—need not be set down here. It is enough to say that there was just one meaning in the Paris demands, and in the less precise demands made to Lie.

The meaning of these demands is that the Kremlin will only be satisfied with concessions permitting the early capture of Germany by the Soviet Union. In short what the Kremlin insists upon in Europe is another infinitely vaster Munich, sure to be followed by infinitely more terrible consequences. This fact must be weighed, furthermore, with the complementary fact of the Soviet drive for Asia.

THIS BRIEF, second-hand, but authoritative summary of what Lie told Paris and London governments is worth setting down for just one reason. As Secretary-General of the United Nations Lie has, after all, been decidedly sympathetic to the Soviets. He went to Moscow at the height of a Kremlin "peace offensive," with every Communist party and Communist front in Europe bellowing for "peace" day and night. If the Kremlin intended to make proposals for an honorable and practical world settlement to any one at all, Lie should have been that man.

INSTEAD, Soviet imperialism proved to be as strong as ever, and piecemeal surrender was suggested as the right way for the western world to make peace with Moscow. The U.N. Secretary-General, who does not like to put hard facts in blunt language, will no doubt dislike and may probably deny this description of his experience. But if Lie's statements in Paris and London are to be trusted, the bleak truth remains. After Lie's journey, we know, better than ever, exactly where we stand.

Mr. Pearson was never among those "little Canadians" who thought that Canadian maturity was synonymous with a move away from the British connection. But he gained his experience in Canada's foreign service in a period when that view was officially popular and he was not unflinched by it. Now that he himself is a policy-maker, it is important to find that he accepts Commonwealth membership without reserve as a keystone of Canadian policy. Through the years he has discovered from experience the value and reliability of the British partnership. For Canada maintenance of this tie is no mere sentimental affair. It is the course of intelligent self-interest, as necessary to our growth and the fulfillment of our international obligations as the freedom by which we determine the direction of that policy.

NEWS PICTURE

In Friday evening's paper, June 9, on the first page was a picture of the lady who went to jail for protesting Hospital Insurance, and failing to pay same.

Your paper had given her two previous write-ups. Was that not enough? Was it either Christian, or kind, to publish that picture?

There are many other items needing publicity, the Arena scandal, etc., for which the space might have been used. I feel with many others that the article was cheap and utterly beneath the standard you claim for your paper. Many people have expressed the same view as I have stated above.

OLD AGE PENSIONERS

There are a great number of old age pensioners in Greater Victoria, many of whom have not been here long and do not know that the Old Age Pensioners' Organization, a Dominion-wide organization, has a branch in Victoria, known as Branch 5. This organization, through its efforts in the past, in no small degree has helped to get the pension raised from $20 to $40 with many other benefits.

The aim of the organization is, and always has been, carefully to watch the interests of all old age pensioners. Branch 5 is the only branch in Victoria representing the Organization. There is an association calling itself No. 5, which is very misleading, because there is no No. 3 branch of the Organization, and it has no connection with or assists in any way in obtaining better conditions for old age pensioners. This association makes a charge of $1 yearly membership, the same as Branch 5, and not $1.50 which has been stated is the fee for our branch.

SCHOOL BUS

It is time we had something done for our primary pupils at Saanich School, Brentwood.

There is no school bus transportation for the primary grade children in Tod Inlet. The school bus only picks up the children along the West Saanich Road and there are 12 or more children from Tod Inlet who have to walk all the way. I feel that it is too great a distance for young beginners to walk in the winter time particularly when they suffer from bronchitis, or asthma as some do. It wouldn't take the school bus an extra 20 minutes to pick up the children at Tod Inlet post office in the morning and bring them back after school. The bus driver has been quoted as saying that "the road to and from Tod Inlet was not passable." This is definitely not true as the road in Tod Inlet is in better shape than the West Saanich road in some places.

Even in the winter time when the roads are covered with snow the West Saanich bus very rarely has any trouble getting out of Tod Inlet.

These children are not old enough to realize the dangers that await them on the highways of today.

So for the sake of a few dollars let's safeguard our next generation, at least until they are old enough to fend for themselves.

MRS. R. TOMLINSON.

Tod Inlet.

LABOR DISPUTES

Your editorial, "A Case of Misplaced Sympathy," June 7, is well taken, in that it illustrates the extremes to which organized labor will go to demonstrate its power, even though such demonstration may be contrary to all the laws of ordinary common sense and decency. Trade unionism today, when carried to the extreme, is blindly subservient to the dictates of their organized disorganizers, and instead of being a bulwark to the country's economy is a decided hindrance to normal progress.

In the bad old days it was "money or your life," now it is "money or your economic life!"

The cold war has its sinister significance in the veiled threats of ultimate resort to armed force; the cold war of labor's "peaceful negotiations" carries with it the sinister threat of violent disruption of our economic life if their demands are not acceded to. Dictatorship is dictatorship no matter what guise it assumes, and unless this creeping paralysis of organized labor becoming a state within a state is halted, we shall wake up one morning to find it will not be necessary to go to Russia for examples of regimentation and absolutism—it will be right here!

WAR INEVITABLE?

Affording a measure of comfort to an uneasy world and, incidentally, providing a stimulus to the world peace movement, prominent statesmen are occasionally heard to state that "war is NOT inevitable." Even President Truman is reported to have said recently "the world is more safe now than for the last five years." But who am I to contradict top-ranking statesmen except to quote a certain book which unequivocally declares that there WILL BE another war, even to sealing it with emphasis "be sure it will come . . . the day of which I speak."

Not only that startling statement, but it particularly "a greater northern confederacy" as the invading host, also the opposing forces; names the battle ground on which the issue will be decided and describes in considerable detail the grand finale of this greatest conflict ever. It is particularly noteworthy because of the speckled unprecedented nature of the holocaust caused by supernatural forces—enormous hailstones, overflowing rain (probably cloudbursts), fire, pestilence, inter-people strife, even to the proportion of invaders slain, and time necessary to bury the dead. As if this were not sufficiently attention-arresting other wonders connected with it are mentioned, the like of which has never been witnessed in the history of the world, nor ever so rudely shocked: the greatest earthquake of all time is one of them.

Mother Shipton nor any seer or soothsayer of modern times wrote this book. It is the supreme in literature—the Bible.

The Red Dean, Dr. Endicott and the multi-millionaire peace proponents have told us many things that are open to question. Do they know anything about this?

RUSSIA and her satellites yesterday boycotted another United Nations organ (the important conference on technical assistance to backward areas) in the Soviet drive to force the peace organization to oust the Chinese Nationalists and give their seat to the new Chinese Communist government.

That is the 30th organ the Soviet bloc has given the cold shoulder in the Red campaign against Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government. It makes clear that whatever good, if any, may come out of U.N. Secretary-General Lie's recent conference with Marshal Stalin in Moscow, it hasn't altered the Soviet tactics of obstruction in the peace organization.

This development, of course, further widens the division of the peace organization into two camps—the Reds and the democrats.

As a matter of fact it would be an astonishing thing if the U.N. could be made to work successfully with the present set-up.

President Truman has warned that the Russians are "fomenting aggression and preparing for war." The conflict can only be avoided by making the western world so strong that the Russians won't dare fight.

Certainly there is no balm in the U.N. Gilead which will cure this situation. That is true because the Soviet campaign within the peace organization is part and parcel of the "cold war." As long as this situation continues, the U.N. will be largely hamstringed.

The election of the Chinese Nationalists and the seating of the Chinese Communists in the U.N. couldn't alter the position materially. It is purely incidental as compared with the Soviet program of communizing the world.

All this naturally is confusing to the average citizen, and the question arises as to whether the U.N. should continue to try to operate under such conditions. The answer to this perhaps is that we never should stop trying to achieve what is right, even if the obstacles seem unsurmountable.

CHRISTIAN FAITHS

Windsor Star

Speaking to the Newman Club in Ottawa, Health and Welfare Minister Paul Martin declared: "We do a disservice to Christianity when we seek to divide ourselves needlessly from other religious groups." The Newman Club is a Roman Catholic organization, and Mr. Martin himself is a devout member of that faith.

Never has the threat to Christianity been more serious. Never has there been a greater need for Christian faiths to draw together in the common defence of all.

TREE OF HEAVEN

New York Times

The countryman may have his dogwood and weeping willows and red maples but the city resident can look these days with special affection upon his alanthus, the so-called "tree of heaven."

Here is a tree as ctitified as a subway and, surely, it is nearly as rugged. It thrives on the lack of nourishment in the city's parched paved area. It breathes in smoke and industrial gases and automobile exhaust in quantities that would kill its country cousins. But the sturdy alanthus flourishes on these evils.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "where Viscount Alexander is in the news with his comment on the Italians. The dispatch was written in 1947, when he was a General, and in it he accuses the former enemy of switching sides when they saw who was going to win. Alexander says they figured it was time to spring to the aid of the victorious, which is about as handy a way of putting it as you could find. That delayed action 'spring' never earns anybody much admiration but it seems to be a good dodge to guarantee a win. It's like signing up with the leading team in the last inning of the last World Series game. It's pretty hard then to miss sharing in the winners' bonus. Going up!"

"The same thing," said the Elevator Man, "is found in other fields, but without the bad flavor that attaches to fair weather friends. Nobody blames a man, for instance, for waiting till the oil well or the gold mine is proved good before investing his money. Of course, the late comer doesn't get as big a reward as the man who gets in on the ground floor of a good gamble, but he has less chance of losing. Lots of horse players wait to see what the favorite will be before making their bets. Most people don't like to buy a new model car until its performance on somebody else's money has proved it's good. Lower main!"

"But war," said the Elevator Man, "is different. Even though modern wars have become largely economic—the fellow with the best factories and production lines wins—they still retain some of the old traditions of chivalry. So you can't wait and make your investment in a war at the last minute—not and keep the respect of either friends or foes. War still has a big emotional content, which makes it the most unpredictable kind of business we know."

REPORT FROM VETERANS' HOSPITAL

In Two Wars, 'Stevie The Great' Laughs At Life And Operations

By TOM MERRIMAN
Tom Merriman, city editor of the Times, is in the Veterans' Hospital undergoing treatment for a wound he suffered during World War I at Vimy.

Ward B, Veterans' Hospital—You can neither tell the age, weight or height of a man when he is in a hospital bed.

Take Ralph Bittner in Ward B. I thought at first he was a skookum six-footer.

First time he got out of bed I found he barely makes five feet and had a hard job getting into the army.

Then take George Steeves (Stevie) of Port Alberni—and if his argumentative pal, Ralph, were looking over my shoulder he would say—"You can take him I don't want him." Well, when Stevie came into the ward a few days after his sixth major operation he looked like one of the younger veterans of World War II in for a check-up.

STEVIE
He was greeted with cries of "Well here's 'Stevie The Great' back again," as he was wheeled into the ward.

He smiled from ear to ear and waved a greeting to the gang like a monarch acknowledging his subjects.

He came in five or six days ago, about the time his friend Bittner was showing signs of recovering from a kidney operation which will probably be written up in medical records as one of the most remarkable operations of its kind up to this time.

They started talking and razzing one another from the start. Stevie, with an Irish brogue and an Irish wit although he's a third generation Canadian—raps out one insult after the other.

Ralph staggers under the verbal blows but every once in a while comes back with a hay-maker. Stevie goes down for the count.

Eight seconds is the longest time he has been clocked as out in the conversational battle.

With both of them it is a real case of "you can't keep a good man down."

You would think all the operations they have had would break their spirits.

On the contrary, they are among the brightest men in the ward.

A spirit of thankfulness that, after all the surgery they have been through, their latest operations promise to put them back on their feet again probably has something to do with it.

Stevie who is 50 and looks to be in his '20's apparently doesn't face a prospect of too robust a life again which will be a change for him. He has served in two wars, navy, army, air force and merchant marine. Last time his much-operated-upon stomach went back upon him he was in Australia and was rushed back to Canada.

He was two-and-a-half years in hospital.

I have heard there are such things as hospital pallor and hospital depression.

Stevie has nothing of these. Propped up on his pillows, he's on the bit every second. In the expressive language one picks up in the navy and merchant service he wisecracks and jokes every waking moment.

He has taken up leatherwork which is among the top favorites in occupational therapy. Sgt.-at-Arms Webster who is in with arthritis is also among the devotees.

Stevie has reached the stage where he is recognized as the "King Pin of the Handbag Makers."

Right after breakfast out comes his box of tools and sheets of leather.

From patterns he draws himself he is busy on a handbag; the left over leather goes into the making of wallets.

He's an enthusiast about his work. Less experienced leatherworkers come to him for advice, lady visitors flock around his bed to admire his masterpieces.

Stevie loves that.

He turns over his work quickly at a small profit.

There's not much left over after he has bought some more leather for the next job but the work is of absorbing interest to Stevie who has to have action. After a life crowded with action and adventure Stevie would go crazy if he weren't doing something.

And he finds it particularly suited to his talents.

He can talk all the time he is working.

The future... there's no self-pity with Stevie; no regrets that he can't roam the world with the navy or merchant service.

"I'll get me some small place in the country with room for me and my aunt and a place to do leatherwork to spin out the pension and boy I'll be as happy as a clam," he says.

What he will do without someone to talk to all the time is a problem. Before he leaves hospital, however, he has accepted an invitation to spend a week or two at the home of his argumentative pal, Ralph.

There will be more words flying during that time than in two ordinary sessions of parliament and coffee brewing 24 hours a for a time Stevie will probably turn out some of the masterpieces of French pastry. It makes our mouths water to hear him talk about them in spite of the marvelous cooking here.

THE HOME GARDEN

Pick Brambles Shoots To Save—Cut Out Rest

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Under the name of brambles we include blackberries, logans and the various crosses such as Youngs and Boysens. All of these are now putting up a considerable number of new canes from the base of the plants.

The right thing to do is to decide how many of these canes you intend to keep for next year's fruiting. Your decision will depend on the age and the strength of the plant.

Those recently set out should be limited to two or three canes, while six will be a good choice for established crowns. The more you leave, the smaller the individual fruits will be.

With this figure in mind, carefully examine each plant and select the six strongest shoots, which are in a good position for training in. Just in case any of these should be damaged during the year, choose a couple of extra ones which may be cut out later if not needed.

TRAIN THE CANES

While the growth is soft, start training the canes to the right and left of the crown, an equal number on each side. Tie them in a loose bundle, and when long enough, suspend them from the lower support wire. You can leave them in this position until next spring.

Now remove all the remaining growths, and future ones as soon as they start. Vigorous plants will need checking over once a week.

Well water the soil for a distance of three to five feet around each plant. That means to set up the hose, adjust the volume of water so that the soil soaks it all up without any runoff, and leave it there for at least one hour. Follow this with a three-inch mulch of sawdust, or a deep mulch of long, dried grass. If you are compelled to use law clippings, keep the depth to two inches or less.

SPRINKLING NO USE

Unless your soil is very sandy, no more water will be needed until the fruit has formed, when another one-hour soaking will suffice. Nothing is gained by daily surface sprinklings. If you have ever tried to remove brambles, you know full well where the roots go, and wetting the surface soil only wastes water and lowers the pressure for other home gardeners.

Strawberries To Be More Plentiful

First local strawberries are on the market, but they are still scarce and it is expected the situation will stay that way for a few days. Wholesalers say the season should be in full swing by the end of the week.

Local crops are not expected to be as abundant as in some years, although J. J. Young, manager of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association said that, with proper weather conditions, crops will be good. Prices will likely remain high for some time.

Concerning a complaint from F. T. S. Sehl and S. F. Boomer regarding drainage improvements on their adjoining Lampson Street lots, E. Fulcher, superintendent of works in Esquimalt, stated the property did not belong to the municipality and therefore would have to be adjusted by the owners.

It was pointed out in a letter to the Esquimalt Council that the two were undertaking a joint landscaping project and during wet weather, the water overflowed the present system, running freely over the property.

Special mooring buoys will be placed in the Inner Harbor for U.S. tourists visiting Victoria in their own private launches. It was reported by Alderman Charles F. Bamfield, chairman of the harbor committee.

The buoys will be placed in the Inner Harbor, off the Causeway. They will each have concrete anchors weighing more than 1,000 pounds. Painted in large black letters upon each of the units will be the words "Courtesy—City of Victoria."

The buoys, formerly held by the R.C.A.F., will be anchored in the harbor this week. They will enable visiting launches to tie up close to the city.

Cartoon To Spur Hunt For Bank Murder Suspect

Police Have Complete Description Of Man Wanted In R.C.M.P. Slaying

MONTREAL (CP)—A country-wide search for the murderer of an R.C.M.P. constable will hit full stride as soon as a police artist can sketch a suspect's picture, city police said here Monday night.

The suspect was identified as "C. Loring" or "Loring" and was believed to be hiding out in Ontario or western Canada.

He is wanted for the murder May 25 in Montreal of Const. Alexander Gammann, a married Bank of Canada guard. Const. Gammann was fatally wounded when he tried to capture a frustrated bank bandit fleeing from the Bank of Toronto branch on downtown Beaver Hall Hill here.

The suspect was described as a sailor, a heavy drinker and a gum-chewer, six feet, two inches tall and weighing about 215 pounds. City police said they were awaiting arrival of an R.C.M.P. artist from Ottawa to draw the suspect's picture. A complete description has been obtained and his picture will be sent to police stations across the country.

Police said the suspect had been living at the Arcade Hotel on downtown Windsor Street until the day of the hold-up. Then he disappeared and a key to his room was found May 31 in a garbage can at the rear of a Hoanepayne, Ont., hotel.

An R.C.M.P. "wanted" notice circulated across the country describes the man as about 40 years old, with blue eyes, light brown eyebrows and a receding hairline. He always wears a hat.

The description is so complete that police were sure a good cartoonist could draw a picture of him easily. Police even have the description of his teeth, and other points.

West Germany Balances Its Export-Import Trade

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—The West Germany Republic has balanced its trade with Western Europe for the first time since the war, U.S. officials announced.

The Germans are selling Western Europe about $100,000,000 worth of goods a month and importing about the same amount from this area. Just six months ago—in December—the Germans had a $50,000,000 deficit with Western Europe.

Robert M. Hanes, chief of the E.C.A. special mission to Germany, said:

"This is a most encouraging trend and one which we hope will continue. The dire predictions about trade liberalization which were made at the beginning of the year have not materialized. We must still wait and see what happens in the future."

U.S. High Commission officials said that West Germany's acceptance of the European Recovery Program's free trade policies played a big part in balancing German-West European trade.

Western Europe has eased trade barriers to West German goods in order to maintain the high level of sales to the Germans, these officials said. High commission officials said

Dr. Sander Applies For Reinstatement

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—Dr. Hermann N. Sander Monday applied for reinstatement of his license, taken from him shortly after he was acquitted of a murder charge.

Dr. J. Paul Dye, medical board president, said no action is anticipated for "two or three weeks."

The medical board took Dr. Sander's license away from him for conduct detrimental to the profession several days after a jury acquitted him of murder in the death of Mrs. Abbie C. Borroto, 59-year-old hopelessly ill cancer patient.

156,000 On Federal Govt. Payroll Commons Told

Total Rises To Nearly Three Times Figure For 1939, Says Finance Dept.

OTTAWA (CP)—Nearly 156,000 Canadians were on the federal government's payroll in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1950, the finance department reported to the public accounts committee of the Commons.

The department said the absorption of Newfoundland has raised the total of actual civil servants to a peacetime record of 127,000. That is nearly three times the total for 1939.

Its overall figure included roughly 30,000 casual employees and certain post office employees paid out of federal revenues. It did not, however, cover the 112,000 for the state-owned Canadian National Railways, the 48,000 in the armed forces and 3,000 or more in the R.C.M.P.

If these three categories were added they would raise the total counting on government or its agencies for their bread and butter to around 320,000 persons.

The figures were tabled Monday at the outset of a meeting which launched a study of the sale of the government's Canadian aircraft property, near Montreal to the Electric Boat Co. of the United States, touched briefly on the sale of a government Emerald Mine in British Columbia to the Canadian Exploration Ltd., and discussed a road contract given an Edmonton firm for work on highways in the Jasper National Park.

The Finance Department, tabling the figures in reply to requests from Progressive Conservative members of the committee, said the civil service payroll numbers for the last fiscal year were estimated by the Bureau of Statistics at 127,000. The difference between that figure and the department's own 153,960 was the latter's inclusion of casual and post office employees in those years.

The bureau's figure of 127,000 compared with 124,000 in 1949, with 118,400 in 1948 and 46,000 in 1939. This indicated that the number has almost tripled over what it was in 1939. There was no estimate of the numbers of casual and post office employees in those years.

LEAPING DEER ON STORE ROOF

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—It sounded a little too heavy for rain on the roof of a South Broadway store. Customers and employees rushed out in the night to investigate.

There, prancing about, was a deer.

The amazed watchers had just figured out the deer must have leaped a 10-foot space from an embankment which is the level of the store roof at the rear when the deer gave another leap.

This time she landed on the roof of a parked auto, crushing it.

Extricating herself with difficulty, the deer jumped across the street and died of injuries as incredulous police arrived.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

Lolling in the spacious sitting-room of his new $25,000 home located 30 miles from the city of Yakima one realizes Harland Clift is one baseball player who played it smart. Confining his activities strictly to the life of a rancher (up until this season he was a scout for the Detroit Tigers), Harland is living what many consider the ideal life. His property runs up to 50,000 acres, including land leased from the United States government for grazing purposes.

Didn't Know Steer From Cow

Just how Clift got into the ranching business is an interesting story. Back in 1932 he was signed by St. Louis Browns out of the semi-pro ranks. The American League club shipped the youngster down to a league in Texas for seasoning.

"I was guaranteed a $1,000 bonus if I made the club, and don't ever think it wasn't tough in those days for a youngster to break into professional baseball," Clift said.

"It was just after the depression and all the boys were in there battling for positions. It was a case of self-preservation.

"I made the club and at the end of the season picked up my bonus. That was an awful lot of money to me and I didn't know what to do with it. Finally decided to buy a carload of Texas cattle and ship them back home. Got in touch with my father and told him to obtain some property for grazing, and that marked my entry into the cattle business.

"At the time I bought those cattle I didn't know a steer from a cow."

Clift now runs a good-sized herd of Herefords and is adding to them every year. During his years with the Browns, Clift continued to invest his money in land and operates one of the biggest layouts in the area.

His Layout One Of Biggest

With the completion of his home Harland is faced with another major job—the construction of a baseball diamond for his two young sons. Pointing over to one of his massive barns Harland remarked: "I'm going to put it in right there and the kids are going to have a real grass infield. Naturally they're both baseball enthusiasts and I'm going to give them every opportunity to develop. I'm having a little trouble converting the oldest boy from a right to left-hand hitter."

Hogan—Athlete Of Year

It was a long way back but Texas Ben Hogan made it. Back in 1948 Hogan won the United States Open and the P.G.A. along with just about everything else in sight. A poker-faced little fellow with unbelievable power and the touch of a master on the greens, he had clinched a place as one of golf's immortals. Then in February, 1949, Hogan almost lost his last match when he was battered to bits in an automobile accident. Eleven months later the little man was back in action. True, it wasn't the old Hogan but he was in there giving it the old try. Since then he won the Greenbriar Invitation and the Celebrities tournament in Washington. They weren't too convincing.

But Sunday Hogan made his comeback complete. He won the U.S. Open the hard way—a three-way playoff against Lloyd Mangrum and George Fazio. At the end of the year when the voting for the year's outstanding athlete comes around again there will be one name to the fore—Ben Hogan.

JOKERS DRUBBED IN FIRST LOSS OF YEAR

What's the use of running up a five-game winning streak? Nobody will respect it! Jokers, of the city senior B lacrosse league found that out last night at the Memorial Arena.

Taking the floor against Foul Bay with a record of six consecutive victories, Jokers must have been just a mile overconfident. But not for long.

The Bays outplayed and outplayed the league leaders through four rugged periods and when the final whistle ended the fray the Jokers had gone down to a horrendous 10 to 1 defeat.

Wilt Scott sparked the Foul Bay attack with four goals while Jackson Walker got five points on one goal and four assists. Alan Hudson and John Makowski each scored a pair for the winners.

NAVY BEATEN AGAIN
Tillamook had little trouble in keeping pace with Foul Bay in their battle for the league's runner-up position by whipping

Woodhouse Up On Three Rings In Smart Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Evelyn L. Hopkins' Three Rings leded gamely in the last 16th of a mile to win the 45th running of the $20,000-added Aqueduct Handicap before Monday's opening-day crowd of 23,951.

Three Rings, packing top weight of 126 pounds and ridden by Hedley Woodhouse of Vancouver, won by three-quarters of a length from C. V. Whitney's Mount Marcy, with P. A. Markey's Piet third, half a length back. The winner was timed in 1:44.35 for the 1.16th distance event.

Solidly supported in the betting, the five-year-old gelded son of Blue Lakeport-Circus Ring returned $4.70, $2.90 and $2.30. Mount Marcy was $3.60 to place and $2.70 to show and Piet paid $2.50 to show.

Man Of Might

Jim Fuchs gets set, goes way down and lets fly hoping to toss the 16-pound shot the unprecedented distance of 60 feet. Fuchs turned in his best effort, 58 feet 5 1/2 inches, in Los Angeles in April. Last year Yale's six-foot two-inch 215-pounder boosted the world record to 58 feet 4 27-64 inches. The giant Eli upped the I.C.-4A mark to 57 feet 9 1/4 inches on May 26.

Red Hot Detroit Tigers Defend Slim Lead In Non Too Friendly Fenway

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Tigers, terrific on tour, open the defence of their slim American League lead tonight in a home ball park that seems to favor the other fellow.

While the St. Louis Cards hit the road to defend their National League margin at Philadelphia, the Tigers opened a two weeks' home stay against Philadelphia Athletics in the first night game of the season here.

Ahead of the New York Yankees by two percentage points after their hottest road trip in 15 years Detroit was ready to send young Art Houtteman to the mound against the Athletics' rookie Bob Hooper.

The Tigers weren't sure what time to sing. In the face of their rambling road record—24 wins and five losses—"Home Sweet Home" would sound hollow. The Bengals have lost nine and won eight at Briggs.

Detroit manager Red Rolfe was jubilant enough over his blazing swing through the east, capped by a victory over the second-place Yankees and a three-game sweep at Boston.

But the Tiger boss said he still figured New York and Boston the top contenders for the pennant, and Detroit just a dark horse.

"Sure, some of the boys have been playing a bit over their heads and are bound to cool off sooner or later. It's how much they cool off that's going to decide our chances," he said—and he said it seriously.

"We just get Hal Newhouse working right again and Virgil Trucks comes up with a sore arm," Rolfe said.

The biggest surprise of the Detroit staff is aging—but still effective—Dizzy Trout. He's come up with four victories against no defeats.

"We're a club with too many 'ifs' to be a real favorite," Rolfe theorized. "If our hitters don't cool off too much, if Trucks gets back in shape again, if our starters can keep up without much relief which we don't have—Detroit may be tough to beat out."

It's the hitting department that cheers Rolfe the most. Third baseman George Kell looks like he's on his way to a second consecutive batting crown. His current .381 average tops the rest of the league.

Four of Kell's teammates are above the .300 waterline. Hoot Evers swats at a .363 clip, Johnny Groth at .332, Johnny Ligon at .327 and Vic Wertz .314.

The Yankees start a 14-game road trip at Chicago tonight. The Boston Red Sox, trying to catch their breath after the drubbing by Detroit, face Cleveland in a night tilt. Washington travels to St. Louis for a two-night doubleheader.

It's an are-light program throughout the National League, too. The leading Cardinals, on tour after 10 triumphs in 12 starts at home, meet the third-place Phillies. Chicago plays at Brooklyn. Pittsburgh tests the New York Giants and the Braves host Cincinnati.

Claims Chandler Denied Contract

ST. LOUIS (AP)—An unfirmed report that baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler demanded a new seven-year contract from the major leagues—and failed to get it—was published by the Post-Dispatch.

"Baseball people won't talk about it," sports editor J. Roy Stockton of the newspaper wrote in his Sunday column. "Mention of the thing actually frightens them."

Stockton said that according to the baseball "grapevine" Chandler failed to get the contract because five dissenting club owners believed the "commissioner's job was such a big one that it ought to seek the man, instead of the man campaigning for the job."

Shamrocks Set For 7-Man Test

Engage Indians Here Tomorrow; Adanacs Win

Just as coach Arnold Ferguson of the Shamrocks had more or less decided on his three sets of forward lines out goes six-man lacrosse and in comes the seven-man variety.

This means another juggling act for the popular playing mentor when the club meets Vancouver Indians in the first game here under the seven-man rules tomorrow night at the Memorial Arena, at 8.

The only thing definite in Ferguson's mind concerning the line-up today was in naming the players who will take part in the game, and he even reserved judgment there in one case.

However, the way it looks now, Fred Ranson and Red McMillan will take over as rovers under the new set-up.

Art Green will centre the first string line of Duff McCaghey and Edwin Popham with Ranson as rover on this string. Darrell Popham and Len Scott will form the defence unit.

On the second string Ken Banks returns to the line-up and will play one wing with Steve Rynoski on the other flank. Larry Booth will centre the line with McMillan as rover and Ferguson and Norm Coates as rear-guards.

Vic Sage will be cast in the utility role.

INJURIES

Ralph Temple is reported out of the line-up for at least two weeks while Coates will be playing with a dislocated toe suffered in last Thursday's game at New Westminster.

Ferguson also revealed that he may bring up one or two of the senior B leaguers for a trial with the intercity club in the near future. Such players are eligible under the league constitution to play up to four games with an Intercity League club without losing their senior B status.

Reports from the Shamrock camp are that Andy Ovcharuk, club president, is thinking seriously of making a determined bid for a place on the team. He has been attending workouts of late.

ADANACS WIN

Last night at New Westminster Adanacs edged Salmonbellies, 14 to 12, to take over undisputed possession of first place in the

"Please comment on this hand," requests a New Orleans reader. "Should the final contract be six hearts or six no trump? I suppose we ought to be in a slam of some sort."

"When the hand was actually played, my partner didn't make his contract. West opened the jack of clubs, and South won with the ace. He took the ace and king of trumps and got the king of spades out of the way. Then he led a low diamond from his hand. When he put up dummy's queen, East won with the king. East returned a diamond, and South finessed the ten. That lost to West's jack, and the slam was defeated there."

"I said he should have played the hand to make somebody lead diamonds to him. For example, after cashing the king of spades, he could-cash the king of clubs and lead his remaining club. The winner of that trick must lead a diamond, since a spade return from either opponent is clearly fatal."

"As the cards lie, a diamond return from either opponent gives him the slam. My partner said that if the king and jack of diamonds were exchanged, his play would work and mine wouldn't."

"What do you think about it?"

BIDDING EXCELLENT

The bidding was excellent. At match-point duplicate, a contract of six no trump would be preferred. At rubber bridge a contract of six hearts is better—partly for the greater safety of a suit contract and partly because of the honors. You shouldn't play a hand at an unnatural contract because of honors, but it's foolish to disregard honors when the choice is between two equally sound contracts."

It's very hard to choose between the two lines of play suggested by my correspondent. Both are fairly good, but neither one of them is the best. South can play the hand so as to be absolutely sure of making the slam! After drawing two rounds of trumps, South should not cash the king of spades so as to get it out of the way. He should overtake his king of spades with dummy's ace!

Then he should return the jack of spades from dummy, discarding his losing club on the trick. No matter who took it, South could get back to dummy with a trump to discard his two losing diamonds on the ten and nine of spades.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Linda Darnell Opposed To Bringing Glamour Into Home

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's so nice to have a man around the house, agrees Linda Darnell, but that doesn't go for glamour.

"I agree with Ingrid Bergman," said Linda; "a star has a right to a life of her own."

Miss Darnell was speaking about glamour in the home. She's against it.

"There is enough illusion in life without trying to deceive yourself," she expounded. "Glamour is fine for the screen; that's the place for it. But it doesn't have to be carried home. Why should we live on false pretences?"

TIMES DAILY SERIAL

FINGERPRINTS DON'T LIE

By Rupert Hughes

THE STORY: Refusing to believe that fingerprint evidence proves her fiancé, Paul Moody, guilty of her father's murder, Azalea Palmer engages private detective Martin Queripel to investigate the case. Queripel and Harley Kenyon, Moody's lawyer, have gone to the jail to question Moody, who denies that he murdered Wendell Palmer, even though Palmer had accused him of attempting to marry Azalea for her money.

XX

Neither the private detective Martin Queripel nor the lawyer Harley Kenyon interrupted Paul Moody's story as they listened in the dimly lit conference room of the county jail. Now Paul paused again to recall the words spoken between himself and Azalea Palmer's father on the day of the murder.

"When I saw that he had no feelings about wrecking my chances to get that big commission for the National Electric statue, I tried another appeal," the young sculptor continued at last.

"I begged him to consider his daughter's happiness. But that made him hotter yet. He growled, 'She's young. She'll get over this silly infatuation for you. She'll cry her head off, the way she did when she was a little girl and I took matches and sharp knives away from her.'"

TALKED IN RAGE
"He raged on at me, but he plainly loved her in his harsh way. He said: 'In years to come, she'll be mighty glad I didn't let her marry you, sir. You are an artist with an artist's morals. You surround yourself with nude models and—why, your highest ambition is to put into marble and bronze a lot of naked women—and me, too. They'd be arrested if they appeared on the street undressed like that. Why, that very design for the National Electric Building is full of stark, naked women,' he roared."

"I tried to explain that they are emblematic figures. He wouldn't hear me out. He shouted: 'What difference does it make whether you call a naked hussy Light or Hope or Virtue or Science or whatnot?—She's still a naked hussy!'"

"He made me laugh with his old-fashioned Philistinism, but I couldn't budge him. At last I told him that he was simply impoverishing Azalea in his spite at me, because she was going to marry me anyway. At that he simply exploded with rage. He ordered me out of the house. He grew so belligerent that I had to retreat because I couldn't resist him. The only thing I could do was to run away from him."

Miss Vael, who financed the project with an inheritance, says "It is expensive, but this is the only way I could find to get the stories before the right people." She said she had been rebuffed in her attempts to present her work to agents and studios.

I asked her if she had any nibbles from the studios since the ads started running. She shook her head sadly.

Queripel interrupted: "But the telephone—did Wendell Palmer go to the telephone to call the police or anybody? And did you fight him for it?"

"Of course not! He never touched the telephone. And neither did I."

"But your fingerprints were on the telephone," Queripel insisted. "How did they get there?"

"They were never there," Paul shouted. "I never touched the telephone, I tell you. Neither did Palmer while I was there."

Quite icily, Queripel protested: "Don't forget what I warned you. Don't leave your lawyer or your detective in the dark."

That grim bronze look came back into Paul's face as he answered:

"I'm telling you the truth and nothing else. I left the house in such a hurry that I forgot even to take my hat. The old man followed me down the hall and slammed the door after me. I stood on the steps halfway down looking for a taxicab. Then I heard the door open, and Mr. Palmer stepped out and shouted: 'Here's your hat, damn you!'"

And he hurled it at me. "It was a flat-brimmed felt hat. I don't usually wear one; but I had been in the sun so much on account of the tennis games that I kept one with me."

"The proof of what I'm telling you is that the old man gave me a kind of skirling throw, and it went over my head."

"I laughed and called back 'Thanks!' Then I went after my hat. It had lighted on the street and it went rolling so far that a passing limousine almost ran over it. The car stopped just in time to keep from crushing it. The chauffeur set the brakes so hard that the woman on the back seat was thrown forward with a slam. But she looked out of the window and I heard her say to the chauffeur, 'There's Mr. Palmer!' And she waved to him as she stood on the steps and called, 'Hello, Wendell dear! How are you?'"

"He waved to her angrily and went back into the house. The car drove on and I went my way still laughing."

NOT RECOGNIZED

There was something so convincing in Paul Moody's version that Kenyon broke in:

"Did you recognize the woman?" His hope died when Paul shook his head. Kenyon tried again:

"Did you notice the number of the car?" Paul shook his head. "Would you remember the chauffeur or the woman if you saw them again?"

Paul nodded. "I think so. I didn't see her clearly. But I saw her hand waving, and heard her voice."

Queripel sighed sepulchrally and asked:

"If we could find that woman and she would remember you, it would prove that you left Wendell Palmer alive. If only she can be found! Yes, and if only those fingerprints of yours had not been found!"

Kenyon had an idea: "Let's put an advertisement in the papers asking that woman to come forward and testify."

Esquimalt Councillors To Study Sidewalk Completion

Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt, named Councillor A. C. Wurtele, chairman of the public works committee, and Councillor J. A. Ellis, chairman of the finance committee, to investigate the possibility of continuing a sidewalk through on the north side of Wollaston Street to connect with the sidewalk on the east side of Head Street.

A petition signed by 16 residents of the area was read at an Esquimalt Council meeting Monday night. The approximate cost of the completion of the sidewalk would be $300, it was pointed out. There was a good deal of rock in the area which would have to be blasted.

MUSICAL EVENINGS

Application by the Salvation Army to hold musical programs in the Memorial Park Sunday evenings at 8.15 for the purpose of "enhancing the spiritual and social standing of the municipality" was granted by Esquimalt Council at a meeting Monday.

Bench Mystery Solved For Puzzled Chairman Of Parks

When Councillor J. E. Carey voiced a complaint to Reeve A. I. Thomas and fellow members of the Esquimalt Council at a meeting Monday evening, he probably didn't realize how quickly the matter would be cleared up.

Councillor Carey pointed out that someone had put top soil on the ground and placed benches at Bullen Park during the past few days.

"As chairman of the parks committee, I think I should at least be notified what is going on, Mr. Reeve," the councillor announced.

"I think the culprit is right here," said Councillor Alex Speirs. "I was the one who did this work, but at no cost to the municipality. I did it for the baseball season opening."

The matter was dropped.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Muscular Facial Spasms Often Caused By Habit

By EDWIN F. JORDON, M.D.

Many people are trouble by strange muscular movements, particularly round the face.

Q.—What causes a person to blink the eyes all the time? My eyesight is perfect. Mrs. E. R.

A.—This is almost undoubtedly a tic or habit spasm. It is a sense of nervous reaction and, as indicated by the second name, commonly becomes a habit which is as difficult to break as many other habits, like smoking. It does not, however, mean the presence of any serious disease.

Q.—Is removing excessive hair by electrolysis successful and could it possibly cause skin cancer? J. B.

A.—This method is highly successful when it is done by people who are trained and qualified to do it. It does not lead to cancer.

Q.—Regarding the article you wrote on fibroid tumors, do you think twice a year is often enough for a woman to be examined by her doctor? Mrs. E.

A.—Fibroids grow slowly and unless the physician has some special reason for advising more frequent visits, twice a year should be enough.

Q.—Does high altitude, such as 6,400 feet above sea level, cause trouble for heart disease? E. R.

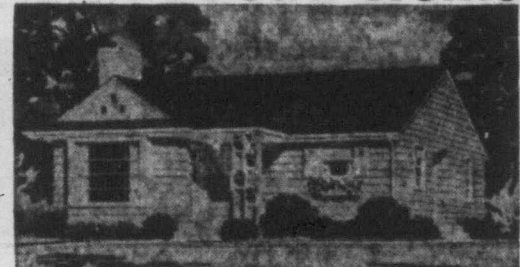

A.—Not ordinarily, but the physician should be consulted about it in each individual case.

Q.—Some nights I toss the entire time because of a nervous condition in my legs. When I move it leaves for a short time and then returns. D.R.K.

A.—This condition could be what has been called "restless legs." According to publish reports in the Journal of the American Medical Association, the most characteristic symptoms are a feeling of weakness in the legs and a sensation of cold in the feet. Disturbance of sleep is common. For relief people move their feet continually or get up and move about. Massage has no effect. The unpleasant symptoms appear only when the person is at rest, as in sleep or at the movies. The cause (or causes) is not understood. There is some reason to believe that the cause is in the nervous system and other reasons to suggest circulatory disturbances.

MINUTES REQUESTED
J. E. Carey, secretary of the Esquimalt Town-Planning Commission, was asked to request that commission to send a copy of its minutes to Esquimalt Council for each meeting.

UNCLE RAY

This is the time of the mid-night sun in Norway. Go up the coast to the North Cape, and you will have a hard time telling whether it is night or day. You will be in daylight all the time, in fact, from the middle of May until almost the end of July!

Even while the sun is shining, people who stay in that area must have rest. In a sense they have "nights" by going to sleep from time to time.

Nature makes up for that long period of daylight at another time of the year. People in the North Cape area of Norway have darkness from about the middle of November until almost the end of January.

At the start of the present century, Norway was united to Sweden, under a single king. There was a feeling among the Norwegians, however, that they should have a country of their own.

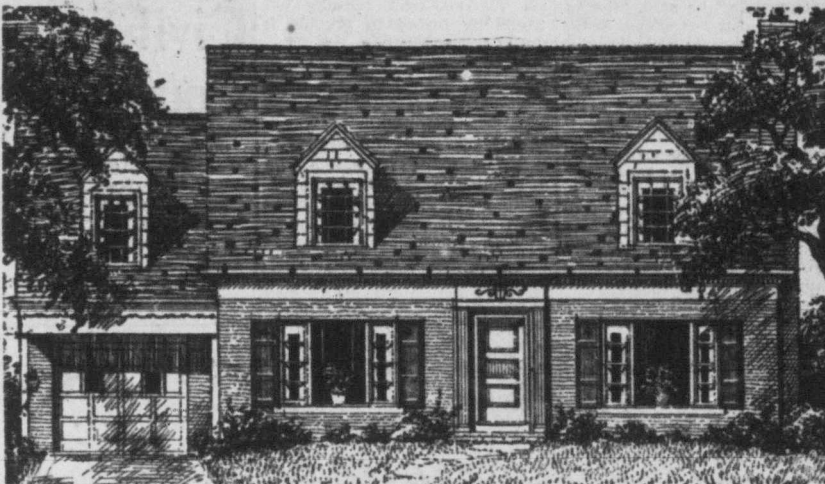

A popular vote was taken and the majority of the Norwegians voted in favor of separation. As a result of this vote, Norway became an independent country 45 years ago.

Going farther back into Norwegian history, we find that Norway was an independent country during the Middle Ages. More than 1,000 years ago, it was ruled by a king known as "Harold, the Fair-Haired."

In latter centuries, Norway had periods of union with Denmark and Sweden, then with Denmark only, and still later with Sweden only. After breaking away from Sweden, the Norwegians had to choose a new king. Not having (in their own country) anyone of royal blood who seemed to have a right to the throne, they chose a Danish prince to be their king. This prince was crowned under the name of Haakon VII.

Laws for Norway are made by the Storting, which has 150 members chosen by popular vote. The Storting meets in Oslo, the capital of the country.

Oslo is at the head of a long fiord. It has a population of more than a quarter of a million, and is important as a seaport. Almost every person in Norway above the age of six can read and write.

Canada, Soviet Exchange Information On Weather

Essential To Forecasters, Meteorological Official Tells Vancouver M.P. In Commons

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada and the Soviet Union are exchanging news regularly about weather conditions in the strategic Arctic regions, the Commons External Affairs Committee was told Monday.

Without this exchange of information, forecasters would not be able to predict conditions on the west coast, it was explained.

P. D. McTaggart-Cowan, assistant

Chronic Cases Not Crowding B.C. Hospitals

B.C. hospitals are not being overcrowded with chronic cases, it was stated Monday by Lloyd Detweiler, Hospital Insurance Service commissioner.

He said first returns from a survey of chronic cases were being received, and a complete picture of the situation should be known within a month.

"Meanwhile," he said, "the indication is that statements to the effect that chronic patients were taking up beds in hospitals needed for acute cases is not altogether correct."

"There are some hospitals with more chronic cases than others, but the crowding for acute cases is not as bad as it has been made out to be."

Mr. Detweiler said hospital construction plans throughout the province were progressing and details of a number of projects should be made known soon.

ant controller of meteorological services, said the two countries send weather forecasts to each other by radio. They are 24 hours in advance for aircraft and 24-36 hours in advance for shipping, he said. Printed records are not exchanged.

The committee was considering a new international convention setting up a world meteorological organization under the United Nations. It approved Canada's participation in the body.

Howard Green (P.C., Vancouver-Quadra) raised the possibility that this country might in the future want to withhold weather information from Russia for strategic reasons but would be forced to provide it under the convention.

McTaggart-Cowan said that there was an escape clause under which any country could stop providing information. But if this was used, he explained, it would mean retaliation and a breakdown in the whole reporting system. Weather news from Russia, China and Japan was needed to make accurate forecasts for western Canada, he said.

Civil Servants Fired If Loyalty Doubt In Slightest Degree

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson said Monday the government feels civil servants employed in secret work should be discharged if even "the slightest doubt" exists as to their loyalty.

But the government does not feel it should give details because it would be "most unfair" to the people themselves. It could identify them.

The basis of the exchange was a series of questions asked by E. D. Fulton, P.C., Kamloops, about how many civil servants had been discharged for loyalty reasons, the dates of discharge, the jobs they held, and other details of screening.

Mr. Garson gave some details of the way the government acts in what he called the constant and unending screening process.

He gave no numbers of persons involved, but at least seven of these have been reported, three in the National Film Board, two in the National Research Council and two in the Defence Department.

In addition, Mr. Garson indicated that a question asked by Mr. Fulton about two N.R.C. discharges in March, 1946, concerned two of the 10 persons convicted in Canada's spy probe, Durnford Smith and Edward Maseball.

Mr. Garson said the responsibility for ensuring that civil servants are loyal rests with each department or agency of government. It also rested partly on the Civil Service Commission, the hiring body.

VARIOUS DEGREES

"The standard by which loyalty is judged depends on the degree of trustworthiness required in the work he is doing," Mr. Garson said.

"In some cases entire departments have been designated by the cabinet as vulnerable departments which require a special degree of trustworthiness. In other sections or branches of departments dealing with secret work have been declared vulnerable."

"Those employed in vulnerable branches or departments must have such a high degree of trustworthiness as to be beyond any doubt whatever. The government cannot wait for actual cases of espionage or sabotage or other offences to take place."

Senate Divorce Committee Says It Has Too Much Work To Do

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate's divorce committee wants a divorce from its job.

In its 24th and final session report presented Monday, the committee, which annually hears hundreds of divorce petitions, said the job was taking up too much time of too many senators.

It regretted that "Parliament has not yet seen fit to solve the problem of parliamentary divorce by setting up suitable tribunals before which cases from Quebec and Newfoundland can be heard."

Other provinces have their own divorce courts but Quebec and Newfoundland cases have to go through the parliamentary mill.

The report was presented by Senator W. M. Asetline, 64-year-old Rosetown, Sask., lawyer and farmer and father of five, who said he was quitting after 10 years as committee chairman.

The reason, he said, was that his duties as deputy leader of the 13-member Progressive Conservative opposition in the upper chamber made it impossible for him to continue as a member of the committee where he has served for 16 years.

The report showed the committee held 38 meetings, heard 301

petitions, granted 240 and earned $47,330 in fees.

The divorce committee provided statistics to show the growth of divorce petitions to Parliament in the last eight years. In 1942 there were 73 petitions granted. From there it read: 92 in 1943, 111 in 1944, 179 in 1945, 290 in 1946, 348 in 1947, 292 in 1947-48, 184 in the first session and 166 in the second session of 1949.

Most of the petitioners are wives. In 1946 husbands obtained 3,616 divorces and wives got 4,067; in 1947 it was 3,539 to husbands and 4,666 to wives; in 1948 2,643 to husbands and 4,228

to wives; and in 1949 2,567 to husbands and 3,675 to wives.

on the TIMES

By ART STOTT

WHATEVER YOU may think of the March of Time films, that introductory sequence—the long column treading fearlessly forward—has something. In the front rank, built like a discus thrower, is the young husky, his shirt open at the neck, his chest proudly high and his chin thrust forward while he gazes confidently into the future. He is the spirit of the pioneers. He gives the impression of strength, intelligence and purpose.

Maybe you're only a little guy, whose thin neck turns loosely in a size 13 collar, whose chest is flat to concave over a comical little tummy bulge. Maybe you're the other type, the spheroid man, whose head fits on shoulders without any neck, and whose body balloons out over legs that look insecurely spindly.

JUST THE SAME, when you look at the athlete in the front rank of the March of Time, that's you, spiritually. When the film flashes onto the screen, you stir in your seat, straighten your shoulders and throw out whatever chest you have.

Men are like that. No matter what nature or a job has done to them physically, they still have the image of the athlete before them. That's part of their personal dream.

It's a fine symbol. It's particularly good in a young country. But it should be understood as a symbol, not as a working model for the individual who has passed the physical peak the March of Time figure typifies. If the average man could look at the picture, glow with pride at the spirit it reflects, and let it go at that, he'd save himself a lot of aches and pains.

THE CATCH COMES when, like a youngster who sees a wild west film and converts himself into a cowboy, the man decides he's still the pioneer, at heart and looks for opportunities to prove it. Often enough he finds them at the summer camp.

A fellow tied to an office five and a half days a week, or working in a store for the same period, years for the outdoors and the chance to show his strength, his physical talents, his practical intelligence and his frontier spirit.

If he's young enough, and if he can acquire some wild land beside a lake, stream or seashore, he has all the basic essentials for his demonstration. Men who hire a rototiller to turn the soil in their city gardens, head for their own hunk of wilderness with axe, saw and mattock. They'll show their friends they're still made of the stuff that built this country.

CLEARING OUT brush, breaking ground and pulling up the root mats are times of testing. A man sitting at a desk, developing the muscles of his index finger from pushing a pencil, doesn't seem to realize that other muscles shown in the anatomy book shrivel up at office work. They're still there, and weak as they are, they're just plain spiteful. The first afternoon clearing the ground, and they yell like a baseball crowd. It's murder.

Those soft white hands, nicely manicured, that look so well below the cuffs of a business suit, add their complaint to the protesting back, arm and leg sinews. By nightfall, if he lasts that long, a man sees subtle differences between himself and that March of Time character. The thing that sends him back to the job the next day is the spirit of the pioneers. That idea dies hard.

A FELLOW WORKING on his own summer place, carving it from the wilds, puts himself through a routing of martyrdom. In a dozen week-ends with his axe, saw and mattock he accomplishes what a bulldozer would do in an hour. But he's been the pioneer, from the dirt-encrusted hair of his head, to the soles of his hurting feet, and every aching inch between.

A man working that way creates his own myths. Good for you, this outdoor work, he says. Gets you back into shape. With his last ounce or two of energy he tries to pull in a sagging abdomen, to show any willing observer how stretched and flabby muscles are regaining their resiliency. He may not impress the bystander, but he impresses himself.

HE DREAMS his dreams of a summer lodge. He modifies and simplifies them as the season rolls by. In time he settles for a modest little shack—just a starter, lots of time to add on to it. Maybe next year he'll make it look a bit more presentable. There'll always be a next year. Perhaps he may someday make the summer camp as good as a city home with all the conveniences. Then he can move out and start all over again—as long as that pioneer spirit survives.

'Prehistoric' Skeleton Proven Whale

Large, flat bones found by loggers under 500-year-old spruce tree near beach on Neigi Island, off northeast coast of Vancouver Island, have been identified by Dr. Clifford Carl, provincial museum director, as those of whale. First reports after find by men of Hope Logging Co., Shushartie, led to speculation bones might be remains of prehistoric mastodon. Above, Earl Cooper of St. Helens, Ore., holds up some of bones. Others are piled on stump. Dr. Carl said large flat bones were part of mammal's vertebrae.

New Schools Needed With Boost In Enrollment Expected In Fall

Greater Victoria schools expect another record-breaking enrollment in primary classes this year with 1,164 registered in Grade 1 classes to date and an additional 500 in kindergarten groups, according to figures released by Greater Victoria School District, Monday.

The upswing is noted throughout the school system. Faced with ever-increasing numbers of children in all grades, the Greater Victoria School Board is submitting a by-law to raise sufficient funds to complete the school-building program started in 1947.

Included in the 10 projects yet to be undertaken are a new Cudborough Bay elementary school and a primary school by MacDonald Park.

These, coupled with three new junior high schools, will lessen the burden on the overcrowded school buildings, the board reports.

Ratepayers of Victoria and View Royal will vote June 22, while residents of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt will go to the polls June 24.

Primary registration figures have not as yet been completed, according to Miss Marion James, primary supervisor for Greater Victoria schools. She urged parents with children ready for kindergarten or grade classes in September to enroll them as soon as possible at the nearest elementary school in their area.

"Although most of the kindergarten space has been filled, a waiting list will be formed and children will be accepted from time to time as vacancies occur in their district," she said.

LUNCHROOM CLASSES

In addition to portable units, classes are being taught in auditoriums and lunchrooms to accommodate the overflow of pupils in all grades.

Present enrollment in the elementary schools is at an all-time high, with 8,475 pupils crowding schools to capacity, according to the board.

"Unless immediate action is taken, school authorities will be confronted with a complicated situation in 1953 when, it is estimated, the enrollment will reach 9,725."

'EYESORE'

City prosecutor Claude L. Harrison labeled the sight a filthy mess. Witness agreed it was an untidy eyesore but "not filthy."

Those were the descriptions given the conglomeration of whole and broken-up boxes, scrap iron, sewer pipes, baby carriages, buckets of asphalt, sheet roofing and other things collected on Harry Haigh's lots at 845 Balmoral Road in a trial in city police court today.

Haigh pleaded not guilty to a charge of operating a junkyard on lots 30-31 of that street without a permit from the city of Victoria, contrary to the provisions of the building by-law.

John W. Oosterink, city building inspector, said he had asked Haigh to clean up the yard many times but it had not been done.

BUILDING A HOUSE

Haigh, in the witness box, said he was not in the junk business any more. The material he had collected there he was using in the building of a house. The boxes were cut up and used by his tenant for fire wood. In addition he kept an old-age pensioner supplied with firewood from the boxes—at no cost.

Haigh couldn't see anything in the by-law which prevented him from keeping his property since he was no longer in the junk business.

He was given two weeks to clean up the property.

Patton Says City Cannot Discriminate

If the city took into consideration the "glaring inequality" instanced by Judge H. H. Shandley in his ruling on the 1949 trades license by-law amendment, the Municipal Act would not permit the by-law, Arthur J. Patton, city solicitor said today.

Judge Shandley in his County Court judgment ruled the amendment invalid, and considered charging a young man entering law the same license fee of an established practitioner unjust.

"If we made such a differentiation in the by-law, it would be declared invalid by reason of discrimination," said Mr. Patton.

Criticizing the ruling he said he would recommend to City Council that an appeal be taken. The judgment would prevent the city from increasing revenue from trades license fees from $150,000 to $200,000.

"If we tried to make different fees for starting and established lawyers, the same would apply to starting and established grocers or any other line of business," Mr. Patton declared.

The city, he added, cannot step into the field of income tax, consequently it cannot levy a license fee on the basis of how much income an individual derives from his profession or business.

Reid Fund $4,400

The fund, established to build Raymond Reid a new home following the fire last month which destroyed the 545 Agnes Street home and killed his wife and three youngest children, is now at $4,400.

The new home will be built on the site of the burned out house. Reeve Joseph W. Casey, who started the fund, said the money would be turned over to a joint bank account between Mr. Reid and John B. Tribe, municipal clerk. Mr. Reid asked for this. Construction will start after insurance on the burned house is settled.

Smiling happily after long separation are Robert Moffatt, left, 419 St. Charles Street, and his younger brother, Canon Edward K. Moffatt, Sherbrooke, Que.

Brothers Enjoy Reunion After 38 Years Apart

"We've done nothing but laugh since we met," said Bob Moffatt, today, following a reunion with his brother, Canon Edward Moffatt, Sherbrooke, Que.

Canon Moffatt is five years younger than Robert, who lives at 419 St. Charles Street.

The two men came to Canada separately near the turn of the century and worked in the east and on the prairies. Bob Moffatt moved to B.C. at the beginning of the First World War, while brother Edward left for Quebec a few years later. They hadn't seen each other since that time until they met again last week.

Canon Moffatt is a lecturer of the Old Testament and Semitic languages at Bishops College, Lenexville, Que.

Bob Moffatt has been a resident of this city for 21 years. Both men have families of three daughters and one son, but the oldest brother has four grandchildren, one more than his brother, Edward.

The brothers' two families strangely enough parallel each other in occupations. Bob's three daughters are all nurses, while Edward has two daughters engaged in nursing.

Canon Moffatt will leave Sunday.

Three Victoria biologists and one Vancouver artist-illustrator were making last-minute preparations today for a scientific expedition to the mysterious Scott Islands off the northwest tip of Vancouver Island.

The party will sail Wednesday morning aboard the fisheries patrol vessel Howay under the command of Capt. W. Redford. The group includes Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum, Charlie Guiguet, George Hardy and William Beebe, zoologist at Vancouver's Stanley Park.

The expedition has been dubbed "operation mice," because the queer rodents on the islands are expected to furnish a clue as to their geological age.

The islands are situated in Queen Charlotte Sound, an area known for its 100-miles-an-hour gales and sudden dangerous squalls. There are five islands: Cox, Lanz, Beresford, Sarsine and Triangle. The latter was visited by the same party last year.

Here It Is Again, Mother,
Dad's Day To Reign Supreme

By PENNY SAVER

"If Sam is going to have his place in the sun, Mabel old dear, this Sunday is as good time as any," said I to my friend during one of our early morning chats. "This is one time when he can come out of the dog house to bask in the light of the household. How's that? You say you might even allow him to sprinkle ashes on the rug without letting him have over the head with the ash tray? That's the spirit my dear."

You'd be just as interested as anyone then, if I told you about all the assortment of gifts that are likely to be placed at the feet of the "boss of the house" come this Sunday.

For "daddy's beautifyin'" hose, ankle or half hose, $1.95 equipment you'll find that shaving brushes will nick anywhere from $1 to $25.00 out of your budget money, depending of course on type of bristle. I liked the novelty of a $5. set that included a good brush in a plastic case, topped with a compartment in which you can stache away old blades. Razors, in leather cases, range from $3.70 to $6. . . . colognes, afters, lotions, about a $1.50 each or the set of three for $4.50. . . . electric shavers displayed, complete with case, from $19.50 up. . . . on the subject of electric razors, have you seen the plastic holders made specially to keep the razor near at hand but not in the way? For $1.95 take it home and attach it to the wall.

In a smart leather case, pop might very well like a set of two brushes, nylon bristles with brown wooden backs, a jet black comb, tweezers and nail file all for $3.95. . . . likewise a big bag to pack his shaving equipment. The one I saw was $1.39 complete with zipper opening, waterproof lining and handle.

Humidors from England, and the like of which I've never seen. They really are beauties. In shades of grey, pastels or the barrel design, the pottery jars would do honor to any den. The price is $5. and the selection is wide. . . . one priced a little higher, $9.50 and ten dollars, that is, you might try to choose between the maple or walnut beauties that sport pipe racks and holders as well as the humidors. . . . and in the same price range are a novelty type of ash tray, which features a metal knob that will, when pressed down, reveal a swivel-like tray that empties itself into the metal or leather covered base.

For his master's wardrobe the addition of ties, $1. up, summer-weight socks, 49 pennies, all-wool hose, $1.50 up, English diamond

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I acquired a mother-in-law in my home soon after my marriage. My wife is grand, but we both admit that her mother just about has us on the ropes.

My mother-in-law would be a peach if she lived 500 miles away. But in the house she is a pain in the neck. She commits no one great offence. She just piles up little things. She interferes in everything, especially the upbringing of our child. Nobody can speak in the house after she goes to bed without her coming charging sleepy-eyed to ask: "Is there anything wrong, darling?" And only the other day I overheard her say to my wife: "I'd keep a pretty good watch on Jim. He is on the road now and you have no way of knowing what he is doing. I certainly would not put as much trust in a man as you do in him. You are too sure of him."

My wife, good sport as she is, replied: "Well, mother, he has just as much right to check up on me." But I still think I made a mistake in not choking the old lady. Why should she try to create suspicion in my wife's mind?

Answer: I think Jim has drawn about the best picture that could be made of the good woman who is a bad mother-in-law, and who, with the best intentions in the world does more harm than malice itself can invent.

FORBIDS POLYGAMY

New Marriage Law In China
Gives Right Of Choice

HONGKONG (Reuters) — The Chinese Central People's Government has passed a new marriage law which, it is claimed, "breaks the fetters of age-old feudalism."

An announcement through the official news agency stated that the new law took as its basis freedom of choice of both parties, monogamy, equal rights for the sexes and guaranteed legal rights for mothers and children.

"All antiquated regulations and practices which in the past forced women to marry without the least regard for their wishes and doomed so many couples to misery and mutual hatred are swept into the dustbin of history," the agency said.

The new law forbids polygamy, the taking of concubines and child marriage or child betrothal. There will be no interference with the rights of widows to remarry, and the taking of money for arranging marriages is prohibited.

Men are permitted to marry at the age of 20 and women at 18. Third parties are forbidden to interfere in marriages based on mutual consent.

The new law makes the registration of marriages compulsory and states that marriage certificates will be issued. Husband and wife are now to be regarded as equals in the home. Both husband and wife have the right to retain the use of their own names, to choose their professions, and to take part in social activities. They have equal rights in possession of the home and in the inheritance of property.

As under the nationalist civil code, divorce by mutual consent may be easily arranged. When only one party desires it, divorce will be granted only if the local government or court fail to secure a reconciliation.

After divorce, both parties remain responsible for the children. The law also adds that after divorce one partner must help the other if the latter has difficulty in making a living and has not re-married.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

More and more mothers express the determination to nurse their babies. It would seem that a mother would not have to fight for his precious privilege, but if she is not adamant in her determination, her chances of nursing may be spoiled within a few weeks—or days—of the baby's birth.

To feed the baby in the hospital nursery prevents him having the ravenous appetite which leads to vigorous nursing. To allow him to go for long intervals between nursings will tend to discourage the flow of milk to the mother's breast. Nature's way is the successful way, and that is to put the baby to the breast soon after birth, and then nurse him whenever he is hungry and wants it, thereafter.

One mother asked how she might insure that she would nurse her baby. The best way is to convince her own doctor that it is her sincere determination to nurse. She should ask for instructions on how to promote a good breast supply, ask that the baby not be fed in the nursery and demand that the nurse be co-operative. Good ones always are.

Mrs. A. J. says that it might interest me to know that she was sent home from the hospital with a formula and the opinion that it would be impossible for her to nurse her baby.

"I had read your column," she writes, "and already I knew the advantages of breast feeding. I threw the formula in the sink drainer and nursed my baby. At first the supply was so limited that it meant nursing at practically two-hour intervals.

"However, perseverance paid off and I continued to nurse her for six months and then weaned her directly to a cup. She has drunk successfully from that ever since.

"At one year I began putting a spoon into her hand and by 13 months she was feeding herself. I have been reading your advice faithfully and I attribute my success to following it. I am indeed grateful to you."

This is good to hear. There are times that any columnist feels that her advice falls before blind eyes and that readers read for the fun of reading but not to follow what is advised. I have long been concerned by the refusal of many healthy, young mothers to try to nurse their babies, so it is gratifying to feel that I have had even a small part in convincing you of its unquestionable merits. Thank you for telling me.

Our leaflet No. 4 "Advice to the Nursing Mother" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Local Council Protests Pedestrians' Lack Of Privileges To Authorities

Members of Local Council of Women voiced their protest at "the lack of privilege pedestrians have in crossing the street," and instructed secretary, Mrs. E. E. Harper, to write a letter to the police commission drawing this matter to attention.

"The pedestrian problem in Victoria is appalling. People are terrified to cross streets where there are no lights," Mrs. Alan Campbell told council members yesterday at their meeting in Y.W.C.A.

She pointed out that in many cases it was impossible for people to enjoy a walk along park paths because of young people on bicycles, even when paths were clearly marked with "no bicycle riding" signs. She stated that young people were riding two on a bicycle, which was also against the law.

Her suggestion that these examples also be cited in the letter to the authorities was approved by members.

"If these rules are not enforced, we are only training our young people to disregard the law," Mrs. Campbell concluded.

Miss Ellen Hart, reporting on citizenship committee, sponsored by the council, noted that plans were well under way for Citizenship Day celebrations June 25. She stated that special services would be held in churches and schools and that a citizenship program would include a pageant giving history of Canada in symbolic and dramatic form.

"The ball started rolling" three years ago and is gaining momentum," she said, "for the citizenship council now includes 30 active organizations in the city which have officially taken up the matter of celebrating Canadian citizenship."

A recommendation that national annual meeting be held every two years, instead of annually, as a means of curtailing expenses, will be sent to the national foundation fund convener. Members decided that they could not pledge themselves and future officers to gain two national life members a year for the next three years, as suggested in a letter from the national convener.

Gardiner To Talk Tough For Trade

To Act Forcefully To Induce Britain To Buy From Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said last night in the Commons he is prepared to talk tough in an effort to open British markets for more Canadian products.

It was time, he said, that Canada stopped talking "nicely" when she tried to obtain British markets for Canadian food products.

This would apply only to "one or two persons with whom he had trade deals in London. About a year ago Mr. Gardiner told the Commons there were some officials in Britain who were not anxious to import any food products from Canada except wheat.

The question of trade with Britain was raised by opposition members who urged the government to "suggest" to the United Kingdom that, in view of Canada's generous help to her during the war years, she re-open her market to Canadian apples.

"I might as well be perfectly candid," said Mr. Gardiner. "I have done every nice thing I know of to try and persuade those who come here to talk about buying food, but I have not succeeded.

LITTLE SUCCESS
"Others have gone over there and attempted to be even nicer than I was in the last stages of the discussion, and they have not succeeded. I think it is about time we stopped talking nicely to some people over in Britain.

"That does not apply to very many people, just one of two.

"We would like to market more apples in Britain, but I do not think they are going to be marketed by nice talking. I think more direct talking must be done than we have had so far, and I am quite prepared to do it."

E. D. Fulton (P.C.-Kamloops) and N. W. Herridge (C.C.F.-Kootenay West), both from apple-producing areas of British Columbia, urged efforts be made to reopen the United Kingdom market to Canadian apples.

They applied their remarks to Ontario and Nova Scotia apples as well as the British Columbia product.

Mr. Fulton said he thought that Britain, in view of Canada's wartime aid, would take it in "good part" if the Canadian government asked her to allocate $4,000,000 or $5,000,000 for Canadian apples.

Mr. Herridge said the United Kingdom had purchased $2,500,000 worth of American apples and $3,500,000 worth of Australian apples last year.

Mr. Gardiner said Britain had refused to buy Canadian apples, but Canadian producers themselves had done a good job in finding markets. They had sold their product in 32 of the 48 American states, despite a bumper American crop and had sent what they could not sell to the United Kingdom as a gift.

Before turning to Mr. Gardiner's estimates, members gave first reading to a bill vesting in Trade Minister Howe the powers to direct defence purchasing in peacetime.

Mr. Howe said the measure reduces the war-initiated authority he had held until now. Mr. Howe said he believed the powers were necessary in the light of world conditions. Broad legislation would be introduced in time of emergency.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, called for nationalization of straight defence industries.

Communist Uprising In Brazil Suppressed

First Relief Payment Made In Flood Area

Live Cargo

Miguel Roginsky of Belem, Brazil, needs no "handle-with-care" warning as he shows off his 25-foot, 130-pound anaconda on their arrival by air at Miami, Fla. The snake is part of a shipment of 216 wild animals, birds and reptiles bound for U.S. zoos.

Mayor Charges Police Chief Stole Spouse

HIGHLAND HEIGHTS, O. (UP)—A municipal crisis brewed today over charges that Police Chief Fay Dalrymple stole the love of the mayor's wife instead of watching out for crooks.

The Village Council suspended Dalrymple Monday after giving him until Friday to disprove Mayor Clemens J. Ley's affidavit charging him with "being instrumental in the separation of my wife and myself."

Ley, 40, contended the 55-year-old policeman "parked his police car at my home repeatedly instead of being on the job."

At least one-third of this suburban Cleveland community's 750 residents crowded the Village Council chamber Monday night for a hearing in the matter.

But except for Ley's repetition of Dalrymple's alleged misconduct, there was no fiery exchange. The chief appeared without his lawyer and reported that "I'm not yet prepared with my defence."

"But the charges aren't true," he declared.

Ley fired Dalrymple last Saturday in a fit of indignation over losing his wife Faye, "about 40," after 20 years of marriage. The couple has three children.

"For the last 12 months you have been visiting my home for reasons not connected with official business, leaving the village police car in the driveway for periods varying from 30 minutes to three hours," the suspension order said.

Dalrymple, a grandfather, said that if he and the mayor could "have a little talk" the matter could be "ironed out."

Robbers Slug Victoria Man In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A Victoria visitor was slugged over the head by bottle-toting thugs and robbed of $80 in a Vancouver hotel early today.

Robbery victim Oscar Dimmen of 1308 Douglas, Victoria, was taken to Vancouver General Hospital where eight stitches were needed to close his scalp wound.

Dimmen told city police two men came to his hotel room about 2 a.m. and demanded his wallet, which he refused to hand over. It was then they slugged him with a bottle and stole his wallet containing the money and a gold ring.

Police said the Victoria man told them he had been drinking Monday night with his two assailants.

Britain's Meat Imports Fall

LONDON (Reuters)—Shipments of meat from South America have fallen "to a relatively low level, chiefly owing to drought," the Food Ministry announced today in explanation of a cut of twopenny (about 2 cents) in Britain's weekly fresh meat ration.

The total ration is to be kept at 1.5 lb by issuing a further twopenny worth of canned corned meat. The change will be operative from next Sunday.

G.O.P. Senators Ask Amerasia Case Opened

Charge U.S. Justice Officials Bungled Theft Prosecution

WASHINGTON (UP)—Twenty Senate Republicans demanded today an investigation of the Justice Department's handling of the Amerasia stolen documents case, including consideration of "formal charges" against department officials.

Sen. Homer Capeheart (R., Ind.) acting for himself and 19 other G.O.P. members, introduced a resolution calling for an inquiry by the Senate judiciary committee. The committee would be authorized to subpoena the Justice Department's "complete files and records" in the 1945 case.

New Republican demands for reopening the case came when a Senate foreign relations subcommittee is conducting an investigation of its own and a New York Federal grand jury also is looking into the case.

Republicans have charged a "bungled" prosecution and administration "whitewash."

Six persons were arrested in 1945 after F.B.I. and Office of Strategic Services agents found numerous secret government documents in the offices of the magazine Amerasia. Only two paid fines—Philip J. Jaffe, editor, who was fined $2,500 after pleading guilty to illegal possession of the material, and Emanuel S. Larsen, former State Department employee, who was fined $500 after pleading no contest.

The Senate subcommittee is studying the possibility of contempt action against Jaffe for his refusal to discuss the case at a closed session on grounds any statement he made might be self-incriminating.

Edward P. Morgan, counsel for the subcommittee, was ordered to draw up a legal opinion.

The Admiralty said the Trenchant, on exercises, is making for Londonderry under her own power.

FACE COURT CHARGES

Police Leave Force Over Gun Incident

EDMONTON (CP)—Deputy Chief Constable Alex Riddell said today two constables have left the Edmonton police force as a result of an incident Saturday night in which a shotgun allegedly was pointed at a number of youths.

He said Constable J. R. Boyle was dismissed and Constable D. B. Morrison was permitted to resign. The men also would appear in court, Boyle charged with dangerous driving and Morrison with pointing a weapon.

Deputy Chief Riddell said the two men were off duty at the

Segregation Adopted By South Africa

CAPETOWN, South Africa (Reuters)—The South African House of Assembly today adopted, by 73 votes to 58, a bill to establish separate living areas for European and non-European.

The debate ended this afternoon when the time allowed by the government was up.

The Opposition agreed with the government that the ultimate solution of the Indian question was repatriation. But it seemed that any hope of this had already been dashed.

India announced last week she would not take part in the conference. She told the United Nations that the attitude of the South African government on pending "discriminatory" legislation in the Union had compelled her to withhold participation.

P.G.E. Extension Truck Driver Killed

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—A truck driver employed on extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway was killed on the first day at work on the project, near Prince George, B.C.

He was Jimmy Paul, whose truck left the new railway grade and plunged into the Fraser River near here.

REFRIGERATION PLAN GOOD

Fruit Preserving Method Being Promoted in B.C. Gets Approval

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in the Commons today the government is aware of a new system of gas refrigeration for the preservation of fruit being promoted by a company in Vancouver and believed it was good.

He was answering a question asked by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., (P.C.-Nanaimo), who said the system was developed in the United States. It was a process by which gases are thrown off from the fruit, causing it to go dormant and enabling it to be kept in a better state.

He asked if such experiments were being carried on at any Canadian cold-storage stations.

Widescale Rioting On Election Day Planned

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Federal police said today a plot for Communist uprising throughout Brazil has been discovered at Recife and suppressed.

Wheat Seeding All Finished This Week-end

OTTAWA (CP)—Wheat seeding is completed in the prairie provinces, except in a few scattered areas where excessive rain has delayed operations, the Bureau of Statistics said today in a periodic report on crop conditions.

"Somewhat larger acreages of coarse grains remain to be seeded in those areas," said the bureau, "but given favorable weather, all seeding should be finished by this week-end."

In Manitoba, growth has been rapid and, apart from the late-ness of the crop, conditions are favorable.

Prospects in Saskatchewan have improved materially during the last week as a result of good rains in most areas.

Crops in Alberta are generally fair, but conditions vary greatly throughout the province. Prospects in the southwest remain good, but rain is badly needed in the remainder of the south and in much of the central area and the northwest.

Rains last week temporarily relieved conditions in northern and extreme eastern areas of Alberta.

Grasshoppers are hatching in most regions of the forecast area of Saskatchewan and a well-organized control campaign is under way. Wireworms have been active in southern, central and west general districts of the province.

Arsonist Sets Home On Fire

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—A Vancouver couple fled to safety early today after an arsonist had set fire to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Yort awoke with the smell of smoke filling the house and escaped.

The Fire Marshall's office said someone had set fire to a pile of newspapers on the basement stairs of the Yort home.

U.S. Shippers Get Rich; Pay Off In Canada

SEATTLE (AP)—A legal tax dodge that may save United States shippers millions of dollars, was reported here today.

It's a method of avoiding the 3 per cent federal freight tax by paying freight bills in Canada—with sanction of the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Railroad officials here said the plan already was in operation.

The Seattle Times said the situation grew out of the practice of purchasing passenger tickets in Canada to avoid the 15 per cent transportation tax levied by the federal government.

Even though tickets are used exclusively in the United States, the 15 per cent tax is thus avoided.

The Times said a Seattle traffic expert, not named, got the ruling from the Internal Revenue Bureau. The ruling is that if shippers send their own representatives to Canada, or if they have a bona fide representative in Canada, the freight bills can be paid minus the tax. The Federal Bureau is reported to have turned down proposals to pay such bills by mail, or through Canadian banks.

First Relief Payment Made In Flood Area

MORRIS, Manitoba (BUP)—New hope was given flood-stricken residents in rural areas of southern Manitoba today when Manitoba Flood Relief Fund officials presented their first payment to victims in Morris, Manitoba.

The fund officials presented the first payment of three hundred dollars to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Daudrich to be applied to damage done to their home.

Meanwhile, cleaning up and rehabilitation operations in the town, hardest-hit by the Red River flood waters, is continuing at a terrific pace.

Here's how things looked in the town as fund relief officials began distribution of cash relief to the residents.

A hardware merchant was discovered cleaning his stock of crockery with the aid of half a dozen small boys.

A drug store was open for business in a wooden shed in front of the store. Another shed, hauled into position by a caterpillar tractor, housed the store's damaged and unsaleable goods.

Most merchants in Morris were in the same plight.

Elsewhere men and women ruefully surveyed what was left of their household goods.
